Caruthersville Boys Hurt

COTTONWOOD POINT— Two Caruthersville youths were injured in a one-car accident five miles north of here on route D at 11:15 p.m. yesterday.

Injured were Thomas Wright, 16, and Thomas Gurley, 17. Gurley suffered from lacerations and a broken right ankle, and Wright from minor injuries. Both were taken to Pemiscot County Hospital in Hayti.

The Highway Patrol said that the youths were driving south on route D at a high rate of speed when their 1961 Chevrolet left the road on a curve and overturned four times. The patrol has not yet been able to identify which of the teenagers was driving the car.

TV And Bed Spread Stolen

A television set and bed spread reported stolen yesterday from the Cyrus Motel on S. Main have been recovered.

The room from which the tv and bed spread were taken was rented to a couple calling themselves Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Duffy. Police said that the couple left the motel by cab, and when A.B. Cates, the manager, checked the room he discovered the theft.

Police then traced down the cab and found that it had delivered the couple to a house on Dorothy St. Police recovered the tv and bedspread there.

Police said that the Duffy couple had left the stolen items with a friend on Dorothy St. and then had left for St. Louis. The Duffys were supposed to return to Sikeston Thursday night, but apparently didn't.

Police Chief Arthur Bruce said that the Duffy's will be charged with grand larceny.

The television was a 19 inch black and white Motorola valued at $60 and the bed spread was valued at $12.

March 31 Billboard Deadline

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe Thursday gave Missouri until March 31 to enact a billboard control bill meeting federal requirements.

If Missouri meets that deadline, Volpe told Missouri Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, he will release $11.5 million in federal highway funds that have been withheld for noncompliance.

The state worked for days last week on a compliance bill but amended it to the point that the senators were confused. They didn't know whether the bill would meet requirements or even if the federal government would help defray the cost of removing billboards that would be illegal.

Last Monday the Senate decided to back up and start all over. The new try should at least start next week.

Utility Rates Frozen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acknowledging that its previous regulations were too vague, the Price Commission has temporarily frozen all private utility rates while it develops new guidelines for rate increases.

The commission said Thursday it will announce the new guidelines by March 10.

In the meantime, rates charged by privately owned utilities are frozen for up to 30 days at the rates that were in effect at midnight Wednesday.

The ruling temporarily blocks about 900 requests for increases totaling billions of dollars, the commission said. It affects virtually all electric, gas, telephone, telegraph, railroad, airline, intercity bus and trucking, barge and pipeline rates.

Publicly owned utilities, such as public mass transit systems and municipal water operations, are not affected. Their rates may go up during the freeze period.

Price Commission chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. said the commission will hold four days of public hearings beginning Feb. 22.

Grayson said the commission also wants to hear views of the general public. He said nearly 40 per cent of the commission's mail has concerned utility rate increases.

The freeze will remain in effect until the new guidelines are announced, Grayson said.

At the same time, the commission has extended its deadline for a final decision on many newly instituted rate increases until March 25, or 15 days after new regulations are issued, whichever is sooner.

This means that virtually all utility rate increases put into effect since the price freeze ended Nov. 14 remain subject to a possible rollback by the Price Commission until then.

Line Drawn On Concessions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has drawn the line against further concessions to the North Vietnamese until they negotiate on his eight-point peace proposal.

"The next step is up to the enemy. Our proposal is on the table and it is going to stand there until we get a reply from them," Nixon told a news conference in his White House office Thursday.

At the same time, the President appeared to hit somewhat harder at Democratic White House hopefuls who spurned his earlier plea for caution in their criticism of his Vietnam policy.

"The responsibility for the enemy's failing to negotiate may have to be borne by those who encourage the enemy to wait until after the election," the President said.

Although Nixon said the other side has not yet responded to the joint U.S.-South Vietnamese proposal made public Jan. 25, North Vietnamese leaders and diplomats have been quoted as rejecting it. The formula for peace includes a cease-fire, mutual troop withdrawal, and release of war prisoners.

North Vietnamese spokesmen have insisted the United States abandon support of the regime of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Thieu has expressed unhappiness over a statement by Secretary of State William P. Rogers that the United States remains flexible on details of a possible political settlement of the war.

But Nixon said he wanted to reassure the South Vietnamese president that "there will be no new proposals made unless it is a joint proposal."

Standing behind his desk, Nixon opened his news conference by giving a general rundown on plans for his trip to Communist China, which will start next Thursday.

The President said his visit and talks with Chinese leaders "will mark a watershed in the relations between the two governments" which have been at odds for more than 20 years.

Two Minor Traffic Mishaps

Police reported two minor accidents in Sikeston yesterday.

Police said that a 1969 Chrysler driven by Carla Regina Walden of 515 E. Kathleen struck a 1970 Chevrolet driven by Albert Leon Dockins of 417 Missouri.

Police said the accident occurred when the Walden auto struck Dockin's car as it pulled out into traffic on Malone.

In another accident, a 1964 Oldsmobile being driven south on Dixie St., by Eugene Lett of 107 Dixie, struck a 1969 Buick owned by Dorothy James of 1010 Maude St.

Police said that the James auto was struck in the left rear by Lett while it was parked in front of 205 Dixie.

Charles Oakley, a representative from the E. P. A. regional office in Kansas City, Mo., said that the purpose of the seminar was to inform local officials on how to staff and fund their programs.

The program is operated by the University of Missouri on a grant from the E. P. A.

Nineteen Men Escape Prison

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Nineteen men sawed their way out of the Warrensville Workhouse and escaped, prison officials said today.

The men cut through bars in a gymnasium, climbed onto a roof, dropped 24 feet to the ground and made what authorities believe was the largest mass escape in the institution's history.

One inmate was captured soon after the break Thursday night and two others were seized early today following a high speed-chase.

Irving Declined Comment About Autobiography

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Author Clifford Irving declined comment today on a Los Angeles Times report that he and his research assistant told federal authorities they never met with Howard Hughes, subject of Irving's purported "autobiography."

At the same time Irving termed "a vicious lie" a report in The New York Times that he and a Los Angeles Times book reviewer were going to collaborate years ago on a Hughes biography.

"People are looking for fallguys," Irving told newsmen at his hotel in New York. "It astonishes me that so much space has been devoted to this."

Meanwhile, the New York Times reported that Irving was seeking to exchange his cooperation in the federal fraud investigation for legal protection for his wife against prosecution in the tangled case in the United States and Switzerland.

Asked for comment, Irving's attorney, Maurice Nessen, said, "I deny the accuracy of both stories, and I am much concerned that such stories should be given headlines."

He added, "I feel there shouldn't be any further comments."

The federal probe continued in Madrid, where U.S. prosecutor John J. Tigue arrived today after spending two days with another investigator looking into secret bank accounts in Zurich, Zwitzerland.

Tigue would say only that he expected an exchange of information with Spanish authorities about the case and refused to acknowledge whether he would pick up tapes and documents taken from the Irvings home on Ibiza off the coast.

Dr. William Beckett Is Dexter Hospital Chief

DEXTER — Dr. William Beckett was introduced as the new chief of staff of the Dexter Memorial Hospital last night at the annual hospital membership meeting held at the Hickory House.

Dr. Beckett lives in Dexter but practices in Bloomfield and replaces Dr. Richard Comeau. A new chief of staff is chosen by the medical staff once a year. Dr. Ronald Hill was chosen the assistant chief of staff and Dr. John Morgan the secretary of the medical staff.

Effective March 1 there will be an increase in room rates at the hospital, the first since the hospital opened in 1968. The action is necessary to cover the increases in cost of operation and personnel costs.

The hospital administrator, Jack Norman said "I don't know at this time what the increase will be, we are trying to get qualifications from the Internal Revenue Service. We hope the rates will be $32 for a semi- private and $42 for a private." The room rate at the hospital now is $28 for a semi- private and $38 for a private room.

It was pointed out that Dexter Memorial Hospital, at this time, still has the lowest room rate for private and semi- private rooms in this area.

Five directors were elected at the meeting for a three-year term to replace those directors whose terms expire this year. The new directors are John William Ringer, president, Bob Robbins, Yewell Lawrence, C. C. Shell and Mrs. Elenore Sisler.

The annual progress reports were given by Ringer. The hospital will pay off the remainder of its bonds in the amount of $130,000 April 1. during the year the hospital utilized various seminars for hospital employes to provide better patient care.

Statistics for 1971 showed 2,082 admissions; 191 births; 2,300 treated in the emergency room; 550 surgical procedures. There were 64 full time employees and 18 part time employees with an annual payroll of $348,500. There are nine doctors on the staff.

Two new doctors joined the staff last year. They were Dr. John Mrogan and Dr. Ronald T. Hill.

Norman reported that the hospital now has a new EKG reader and that by computer the staff can obtain a reading minutes after it is taken. "This is very valuable to the doctor and his diagnosis," he said.

There will soon be a new paging system for the doctors with a radio at the hospital. Each doctor will carry a receiver at all times which will work within a 25 mile radius of the hospital. X-ray and laboratory technicians will also carry receivers.

Norman complimented the hospital auxiliary for its efforts in donating in excess of 6,000 volunteer hours and approximately $3,900 which has been used to concrete the basement floor of the hospital. Also complimented was Doris McCoy, LPN, director of the candy stripers for their assistance and the funeral homes in the areas for their ambulance service.

Guests at the meeting were Ray Call, president of Missouri Utilities, home office, Cape Girardeau and Jim Lansmon, treasurer of Missouri Utilities, Cape Girardeau.

Noranda Testimony Monday

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Testimony begins Monday in federal court on a $1.5 million damage suit by Noranda Aluminum Inc., of New Madrid, Mo., against the Carpenters and Millwrights union.

The firm said an 11-day strike in the summer of 1970, over a jurisdictional work dispute, caused a construction delay which resulted in additional expenses such as overtime pay, rental charges, extra interest on borrowed money and other overhead costs.

Morris J. Levin, attorney for Local 618 of the union, with headquarters in Sikeston, Mo., said the millwrights had been assigned the work on gates and chutes of the giant plant in Southeast Missouri, but the work was done by steamfitters.

He said the original damage amount in the suit was $1.8 million but this was lowered after pre-trial conferences.

The non-jury trial will be in the court of U. S. District Judge James Meredith. It is expected to take at least two weeks.

Noranda is a subsidiary of Noranda Mines, Limited of Toronto, Canada. Production at the wire and rod mill began about a year ago.

Company officials have blamed inflation, jurisdictional work disputes and featherbedding practices by some unions for increasing construction costs by about 50 per cent.

Crime Lab Use

Robert Briner, director of the L.E.A. crime laboratory in Cape Girardeau holds a one-ounce jar of processed marijuana in his right hand and a leaf of the plant in a plastic case in his left. The ounce of marijuana would make about 20 cigarettes and is worth about $15, Briner said.

Robert Briner

Briner said that the lab is equiped to handle most problems brought to it, from analyzing paint chips to detecting minute traces of narcotic.

Briner dealt heavily in his talk with the problems of drug detection, which so far has provided the lab with the bulk of its cases. He said that there did not appear to be much of a problem with hard drugs, such as heroin, in the Bootheel, although some does show up occasionally.

Briner said that drug pushers can be clever in camoflaging their products. He told the group that blue LSD pills are quite common. The purpose of the blue tablet is to hide the LSD, which turns blue during the laboratoyr's color tests. Since blue LSD on a blue pill can't be seen, the pushers hope to escape detection. Briner added that the ruse doesn't work -- the lab can seperate the LSD out of the tablet and confirm its existance.

He added that LSD is a difficult drug to detect in the lab and virtually impossible to detect using field equipment.

Briner added that misuse of drugs is not a problem found just in the ghettos of the large cities, but that it is found in the rural areas also.

"People should be made aware of the problems in their area," he said, but then added, "We shouldn't get them alarmed."

John Wilson, assistant prosecuting attorney, told the police officers that care must be taken when handling evidence. He said that it should be tagged and kept in an inaccessable place. If too many people have access to evidence, he said, the prosecutor's case could be jepardized.

He said that it is customary for the prosecutor and the policeman to have a pretrial conference and go over the officer's report to clear up details.

"Sometimes we discover things that weren't in the report and then have to find a new angle on the case," he said.

He added that when the officer is on the witness stand his answers to questions put to him should be as short and concise as possible and that the officer should not volunteer information, but to give answers only to the questions put to him.

Law Meeting

Law enforcement officers from Scott, Stoddard and Mississippi counties met last night at the Community Room of the First National Bank to hear Robert Briner explain the services available to them from the crime laboratory in Cape Girardeau.

Briner is director of the Law Enforcement Assistance Laboratory which is located on the campus of Southeast Missouri State College.

Briner said that the lab was begun in 1969 because local law enforcement agencies were handicapped by the lack of a nearby lab. Prior to that time, all laboratory work was done in Jefferson City.

PET POPULATION CONTROL

Believe it or not — man's best friend, the dog, has become a major social problem. It is virtually impossible to avoid encountering one or more roving strays during any day of the week. What the public may not know is that these animals are killed by the millions each year in an effort to control the pet population explosion.

So that the reader may have a glimpse of the daily activity in a Society For The Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Animal Shelter, excerpts from a letter written by a female SPCA Animal Shelter worker are parphrased as follows: I put on old clothes and receive from the public terrified, vomiting pets and adopt pets to them. I spend seven 10-hour days hosing out runs, feeding the animals and gaining their trust; and select the 20 or 30 cats and dogs that have to be killed each day in order to make room for the 20 or 30 newcomers. In addition to killing the day's quota of perfectly healthy animals I have to dispose of their bodies.

The California Humane Council reported recently that during the fiscal year of 1969-70, California counties and cities spent a combined total of $23 million on animal control. They estimated that private citizens and humane societies spent an additional $30 million to board, feed, and eventually destroy millions of homeless cats and dogs. The Council believes the figure for 1970 may have reached $100 million if all costs were known. And that is for a single state: California!

The long term solution to the problem may be both privately and publicly owned low cost spay and neuter clinics. Edward Newman, President, California Humane Council, states: "We pioneered in getting low cost spay clinics in Los Angeles when we originated a petition in the winter of 1969 advocating the establishment of such a municipally owned and operated clinic in Los Angeles. The fees set by this pilot clinic booked up months in advance.... If the fee is moderate, the public, as proved by the Los Angeles spay clinic program, will take advantage of it."

The publicly owned low cost spay clinic may solve two problems: (1) resolve thepet population explosion, and (2) reduce the expanding governmental bureaucracy required to cope with current methods of animal control.

Jay Miller, Brookfield, brought in a rather interesting old advertisement, featuring the original Presidential proclamation for Thanksgiving, which was written in the unmistakable style of its author, Abraham Lincoln.

The proclamation says:

"The year that is drawing toward its close has been filled with the blessings of fruitful fields and healthful skies. To these bounties, which are so constantly enjoyed that we are prone to forget the source from which they come, others have been added, which are of so extraordinary a nature that they cannot fail to penetrate and soften the heart which is habitually insensible to the ever-watchful providence of Almighty God. In the midst of a ... war ... the laws have been respected and obeyed, and harmony has prevailed everywhere, except in the theater of military conflict ...

"Needful diversions of wealth and of strength from the fields of peaceful industry to the national defense have not arrested the plow, the shuttle, or the ship .... and the mines, as well or iron and coal as of the precious metals, have yielded even more abundantly than heretofore. Population has steadily increased, notwithstanding the waste that has been made in the camp, the siege and the battlefield ...

"No human counsel hath devised, nor hath any mortal hand worked out these great things. They are the gracious gifts of the Most High God, who, while dealing with us in anger for our sins, hath nevertheless remembered mercy.

"It has seemed to me fit and proper that they should be solemnly, reverently, and gratefully acknowledged as with one heart and one voice by the whole American people. I do, therefore, invite my fellow citizens in every part of the United States, and those who are at sea and those who are sojourning in foreign lands, to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November next as a day of thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father who dwelleth in the heavens ...

RAINY DAY ... and JOBS, TOO

The following information is for those Americans — all 17 of them — who are socking money away in the bank like crazy and feeling guilty about it.

Despite what you may have heard, the money you put in a savings account does as much for the economy as money spent directly for consumer goods and services, says the United States Savings and Loan League. It "works" just as hard in creating jobs and new business enterprises, while having the additional advantages of building your own future purchasing power as it contributes to your financial stability and independence.

* Deposits in savings and loan associations, for instance, go to finance a wide range of loans for housing purposes.

* Money saved at mutual savings banks is used to finance housing and real estate developments and to buy corporate bonds.

* Money saved at commercial banks goes for a wide range of purposes, including the financing of businesses, commercial enterprises and to buy municipal bonds, whose proceeds pay for job- creating government projects.

* Money placed in credit unions is earmarked for consumer loans to purchase all kinds of goods and services.

Now you can smile all the way to the bank.

STABLE FLOWER CURRENCY

The dollar may float (or sink), yens, marks and francs may rise or fall, but the "fleurin" remains the world's most stable currency.

While government finance ministers fretted during the latest monetary crisis and President Nixon held summit meetings with world leaders, 40,000 florists in 120 countries calmly continued filling orders with no fears about payment.

As members of the worldwide chain, "Fleurop-Interflora, "they reckon payments in "fleurin," a nonmaterial money defined as 25 U.S. cents, two British shillings or one Swiss franc, depending on which of three nonprofit regional clearing houses handles billings. (In the United States, florists may belong to Florists' Transworld Delivery (FTD) or Teleflora.)

According to Dutch journalist Will J. Reckman, writing in "European Community," published by the European Community Information Service, the "fleurin" remains fixed until a revaluation or devaluation occurs. During times of uncertainty, the regional offices absorb any losses because the international crossflow of orders tends to balance things off.

Spiritual father of Fleurop- Interflora was Max Huber a florist in Berlin at the beginning of the century, who originated the idea of transmitting flower orders to different cities by telephone or telegraph, rather than sending the flowers through the mail.

By 1908 there were 98 German florists in the chain. The idea spread to other countries, and in 1927 Fleurop was founded in Zurich, Switzerland.

Last year the organization handled some 27 million orders — or about one order a second — representing a total of 850 million "fleurin."

NEW YORK (AP) — There is one time in the year when I feel like hiding in bed all day with the covers pulled over my head.

That is on St. Valentine's Day.

I am allergic to it. It is a redhearted day for all the earth's lovers, but Valentine's Day is just another nosebleed to me.

Nothing nice ever happened on Valentine's Day to me.

The only thing I ever got on Feb. 14 was trouble.

It all started on Feb. 14, 1916, the year the Battle of Jutland was fought and I entered kindergarten.

I bought an insulting penny valentine and started to leave it on the desk of the manliest little girl in the class, of whose muscles we were all in awe.

Someone in the class ratted on me, and the next thing I knew this 65-pound baby tigress was sitting astride my chest and pounding my head on the wooden floor. I still wake up every Valentine's morning with a ringing in my ears.

I guess I must have been 12 when I was a street newsboy and fell deeply in love with blonde middle-aged wife of a man who ran a cleaning shop. She was so tall I had to make echoes if I wanted her to look down and smile at me.

On Valentine's Day, while she was in the back of the shop, I put a newspaper on her desk as usual—plus my gift, a box of cheap face powder—and fled.

Later, she called me back to her shop and handed me a sealed envelope. Outside, I opened it with trembling hands—and out fell a dollar bill.

No life before or since has ever been so crushed in ignomy. No lacy valentine, no tender note—just a paltry buck. Did she think a love as fine as mine was for sale?

On Feb. 14, 1943 in Tunisia I bit down on an Army-rationed Tootsie Roll—and out fell one of my teeth. I still keep it among my Valentine's Day souvenirs.

But the worst of my blunders came on Feb. 14, 1938, when I had been married only a few months. I had failed to buy my new wife a gift and when she remarked about it, I said:

"Why should I give you a present? We're married now. Valentine's Day is a single girl's racket."

Well, that unfortunate husbandly remark has been haunting me for 34 years now.

A happy St. Valentine's Day? Impossible. It's a kind of Doomsday to me.

LINCOLN'S IDEOLOGY

If the cause is right, it will triumph. Upon this simple truth, for which the Bible stands from beginning to end, Abraham Lincoln based all his ideology and all his actions. This powerful yet peaceful man was led by his convictions into conflicts and tensions, doubts and despairs which his retiring spirit would often have evaded. He was a diffident man, haunted by uncertainty on innumerable occasions. Yet his dilemmas invariably ended in a settled conviction that, with all the odds against him, all the strength gone from him, if the cause were right, it would inevitably triumph.

After the loss of Ann Rutledge, he was so uncertain in his love life that he seems to have married Mary Todd on a rebound, and as a refuge from his hesitations. He was reluctant to identify himself with any denominational creed, no doubt because he was aware of the self-righteousness of the many voices which argued and thundered from pulpits and platforms. Yet this tall, taciturn, silent and beloved man, who became a master of lucid English and a leader in whom millions put their trust, lived out the New Testament day by day.

He had a revealing fondness for cats. He could not resist the appeals of distressed women, particularly if their sons were at the war he was waging. He refused to make quick decisions. Again and again he was unsure as to what he was going to say until the moment when he made his pronouncement. He believed that slavery could be abolished by constitutional means, because the cause was right and it would triumph. His physical strength was a byword but his gentleness was a healing balm. We can with confidence claim that he was led by the Holy Spirit, until the day when he became a martyr to the fanatic psychopath who gathered into his unbalanced mind the hatred of Lincoln's opponents.

If the cause is right, it will triumph. This simple Lincolnese sentiment can be of comfort to the many who are anxious about the present state of the world. All this nation's misfortunes, even all the world's misfortunes, from earthquakes to student riots, are flashed across the screens until we are loaded with concern and tortured by feelings of frustration and helplessness.

Let us do what we can in the best way we know how, and then believe with one of the world's great statesmen that the righteous cause will ultimately triumph. Many of our present tensions are a by-product of the working out of this principle of divine control, justice and loving care.

Accepted and lived by, this belief is the peace of God that passes all understanding.It cannot be described, but it can be known, as it was by Abraham Lincoln who was born in a little cabin in Kentucky on February 12, 1809.

What better word could be given to the Boy Scouts of America, whose week we celebrate? They will grow up to see evil cast down and right enthroned if they will learn how to read their Bibles and the signs of their times in events reported daily.——The War Cry.

TWISTED MEANINGS

The people of Chile may be surprised to hear that, according to the Moscow sect of world Marxism, Chili has just completed its first year of popular government. Further, this "popular" government (headed by Marxist Salvador Allende who was elected by only 36% of the popular vote) has, again according to the communists, "accomplished more than had been achieved in the whole of the country's history."

Communists twists meanings to the point that good people have trouble communicating because of communist destruction of language. The fact is that Chile had long been one of the few Latin American nations with a history of popularly elected, non-dictatorial governments. Chile had problems. as does every nation, but nothing like the problems caused by Allende and his Castro-backed revolutionaries who are destroying the nation.

Two recent elections show that Allende soon will have to take the usual communist step of suspending elections to prevent his Marxist party from losing every election. Communist "land reform" has resulted in bands of hoodlums going about the country seizing farms from peasants and landed gentry alike, disrupting crop production and threatening mass hunger.

Decent people are fleeing Chile in droves. Non-communists have been assassinated or jailed and harassed unmercifully. Moscow is proposing means of giving Allende credits of $500 million, but Allende is in debt by billions and has just about killed all foreign investment by his policy of confiscation of assets. The non-communists in Chile will long rue the day they failed to unite against the minority of communists, thus losing their freedom. There is a lesson for all of us here. HLH.

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--Donald Nixon, the President's likeable, loquacious brother, is an inveterate wheeler-dealer.

He talked expansively about his business ventures recently to a few visiting businessmen. One was my associate George Clifford, posing as a realtor.

They met in a big, pastel building just off the Los Angeles-San Diego freeway in Fountain Valley, Calif.

The sign outside said "Hallamore Homes," but the proprietors were building empires, not houses. They were floating a stock offering; they were trying to line up customers for their modular housing; they were hustling; they were playing for the big buck.

Everything about their operation looked big. The founding father, Lloyd G. Hallamore, was large enough to dwarf most football linemen. His son, Barry, was even bigger.

But the biggest man in the room was Donald Nixon, who is only six-foot-two in physical size but sits high on the shoulders of the President of the United States.

The stocky, amiable Nixon, who was wearing blue trousers and a light blue, open-necked sports shirt with a monogram on the breast pocket that looked like a jelly smudge, did most of the talking.

--GOVERNMENT DEALS--

He said the Navy was close to purchasing 1,200 Hallamore homes for personnel at El Toro Marine Air Station, near Richard Nixon's San Clemente estate.

Donald said other deals were being worked with Fred Harvey, Inc., a concessionaire in the national parks, which depends on the continued good will of the Interior Department to keep its lucrative contracts.

Donald Nixon winked.

He had also encountered considerable interest in Hallamore homes, he said, while traveling abroad as a vice president for the Marriott Corp., a large restaurant, food catering and hotel chain.

In Greece, he discussed modular houses with Aristotle Onassis, husband of the widow of the man who defeated Donald's brother in the 1960 presidential race. Donald remembered that Onassis had sent to his hotel room roses with the longest stems he had ever seen.

There was also interest in Hallamore homes, said Donald, in Spain, Portugal and Brazil.

"The director of the National Bank in Spain told me he wanted these houses over there," Donald said, and he winked.

Suddenly, he fixed his gaze on a visitor connected with the airline Air West.

"How do I get Air West?" Donald demanded. "We ought to do their catering. They owe me that."

--HIGH FINANCE--

After the meeting, the participants drifted away. Four of them, including Donald Nixon and George Clifford, went to a roadside restaurant not far from the Hallamore plant.

"I've already eaten," Donald said from his side of the booth. But he eyed the menu hungrily and ordered a "melted burger"--a hamburger with melted cheese on pumpernickle--and a chocolate milk shake.

"Don't tell my wife," he said, and he winked again. He has a serious weight problem. But he would rather talk about making money than losing weight. He told about his deal with Hallamore.

"They have promised me 25 per cent of their stock," he said, satisfaction and melted cheese on his lips. "And I'm going to de a director of San/Bar." This corporation, he said, would handle foreign sales of Hallamore homes.

Then he embarked on a rambling discourse of his activities abroad. He was asked whether he planned to accompany his brother on the presidential trip to Peking.

Donald's face took on all the earnestness that Richard Nixon displays on television. "Oh, no," said Donald. "Only my brother and his closest advisers will go."

Then he grinned, and his left forefinger jabbed the air.

"But remember this," he said, "don't overlook the possibility of trade with China. And with Russia. There is an opportunity there. Someone has to do business with them."

Footnote: A spokesman for the Naval Facilities Engineering Command confirmed that the Marines had been looking at Hallamore homes but hadn't decided whether to install any at the El Toro station. Hallamore is the subcontractor, meanwhile, in another bid to provide modular homes for the Air Force. Fred Harvey, Inc., has decided against installing Hallamore homes in Death Valley and the Grand Canyon, a spokesman said.

--UNDER THE DOME--

Accident Prone--Rep. Seymour Halpern, R-N.Y., recently returned unscathed from an 11-nation narcotics investigation. In Vietnam, he had to be rescued from a downed helicopter. In Thailand, he left the Imperial Hotel minutes before it burned to the ground. In Turkey, he was chased from a poppy field by irate women field workers, who got after him with hoes and stones. Safely back home, Halpern reached into his oven without thinking and grabbed a hot Corning Ware pot with his bare hands. "I heard my fingers sizzle," said the Congressman, nursing three bandaged fingers.

Pistol-Packing Papa--Dapper Rep. Dan Flood, D-Pa., whose twirled waxed mustache gives him the look of an old movie villain, packs a small foreign-made automatic pistol when he's on the streets of Washington. He was forced to disarm temporarily because his Washington pistol permit expired. But he took a look at the crime statistics and quickly re-applied. Flood doesn't carry his pistol on the House floor nor in his Pennsylvania district, he tells us. In both places, he is sufficiently loved not to have need of a sidearm.

Chiseling the Children: Unchecked Ineligible Welfare Clients Costing One Big City $60 Million Annually.

by Victor Riesel

NEW YORK--This is a progress report on the search for those hundreds of millions of welfare dollars stolen or wasted before they get to the needy--and one the drive to expose the pilferers of these funds who thus deprive the needy, yes, including hungry widows and orphans.

In classic tradition, comedy is mixing with tragedy as welfare and Medicaid funds disappear or are mishandled to the tune of hundreds of millions of dollars annually in this state alone.

There is, for example, the indignant lady, angered by abuse of the Medicaid program, who put her Great Dane on Medicaid. She was discovered. Her case was rushed to the district attorney for prosecution. Nonetheless, the Machine dispatched a renewal card to her dog.

But what of the three dentists each of whom during 1968-69, it was recently discovered, were paid in excess of $1 million? One of them got $1.3 million. Three others were reimbursed by Medicaid for more than $750,000 each. And still three others got more than $300,000. Yet health department officials testified before a grand jury here that the typical dentist in private practice working full time could earn some $60,000 annually.

What of the "phantom bridges" practice--charging for dentures never provided to patients? Thus they literally took the money out of the mouths of the poor.

So while the Great Dane of the angry Mrs. Lustig may be prosecuted, the dentists--known technically as vendors to the Social and Rehabilitation Services section of the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare--still are practicing.

It's a difficult maze into which to probe nationally, so I've chosen New York as the site of my dig--though they tell me that Massachusetts has the worst administered welfare and Medicaid system in the land.

If the Bay State is worse than New York, small wonder the national deficit is chasm-ing out. Here, for example, New York City has been charged with being so inefficient in discovering welfare ineligibles that some $60 million annually is wasted on those who should not be receiving a penny a year. The figure comes from the venerable State Controller Authur Levitt. And over 40 per cent of these lost dollars are contributed by the Federal government.

Certainly Levitt's report is no attack on public aid to the ailing, the handicapped, the impoverished, the fatherless--and motherless--children wandering our inner cities. Levitt is a New Deal liberal, and he is an unimpeachable auditor. We take his word therefore that $60 million annually is going to those who need it not.

And from this city's Human Resources Administrator comes word that the "welfare Machine," already in disrepute, is in such disrepair that the city is losing some $24 million annually because it can't cut clients off the list even after they are known to be ineligible, or have reported they no longer want welfare money or they have simply gone away.

There are some 10,000 such cases regularly on the termination and suspension list. They cost $2 million a month to maintain. Checks continue to go out to these un-people. And they are only part of a backlog of 160,000 "actions" on which millions more appear to be wasted annually.

It is the opinion of the respected, first in the nation, State Welfare Inspector General George Berlinger, that "scores of millions of dollars have gone down the drain" in New York City welfare administration. He has sampled the cash payout rosters and concludes that at least 10 per cent of the persons on them are ineligible.

No minor fiscal matter this. There are over 1.2 million people on public assistance here. Most of them suffer the moral and physical pangs of hunger-- and some of us still remember such pains. But that should not and must not be used to decry those who reveal that there are welfare clients who own three cars, or real estate, or conceal mystery husbands in locked closets.

Money saved may be some hungry family saved. California did it. According to information passed on to Inspector General Berlinger here, there would have been at least 400,000 more people on the Calfornia relief rolls than there are now if the state hadn't reorganized its assistance system. Word is that this is saving $100 million annually.

There are those who charge that such reorganization is counter social. Is it a crime to save the working peoples' money?

Dear Editor:
It is refreshing to read that not all Federal Agencies are "Spenders" without return of any funds to the taxpayers.
The Federal Bureau of Investigation has just finished its 1971 record with flying colors. Savings and recoveries by the F.B.I. under J. Edgar Hoover accounted for $510 million of $1.61 return for every dollar appropriated for F.B.I. operations.
Congratulations to Mr. Hoover and the F.B.I.

Satellite Debris

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee staff report says debris which fell over Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas two years ago came from a Soviet satellite of unknown purpose.
The report by the Senate Committee on Aeronautical and Space Sciences says the satellite, which disintegrated after its orbit decayed and it fell into the atmosphere Aug. 28, 1970, had characteristics of both an orbiting bomb and of an inspector satellite.
It said the satellite, launched Dec. 23, 1969, was unique on at least two counts.
"It flew at the same inclination as a FOBS Fractional Orbit Bombardment Satellite yet seems to have maneuvered more in the manner of the inspector destructor series.
"It left some debris at an intermediate orbit but its carrier rocket was placed in the same more extreme eccentric orbit of the payload."
The report said the statellite became "of special interest" when it fell in the American Midwest. Some of the debris the report said, was several feet in maximum dimension and weighed scores of pounds.
"No public interpretation has been made of the significance of these pieces," the report stated.
The report said the Soviet Union was known to have been testing both the orbiting bomb system and the inspector statellite system at the time.
The inspector satellite system was designed to match orbits with potentially dangerous foreign satellites, inspect and destroy them, the report said.

Amendments Are Dead

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Sen. Albert M. Spradling, D-Cape Girardeau, said today two broad constitutional amendments to reorganize the state government are dead for this session.
He blamed opposition of the colleges and universities to one proposal that would have established a coordinating board with broad powers over higher educational policies, plus the fact that some state agencies wanted to preserve their own little empires unchanged.
He said the negative attitude of the schools created a negative atmosphere for both plans.
One of the recommendations of the Governmental Reorganization, or "Little Hoover," Commission would have grouped all 90—some state agencies under 10 main departments. It ran into opposition from many agencies.
Spradling said offering the proposals was an educational exercise for the legislature that cost the state $200,000.
"The legislature gave them (the commission) $200,000, then said 'We don't want it'," Spradling said.
As of today, he noted the Senate has about 100 bills on its calendar ready for debate and anything coming out of committee after this week would be impossible to pass in the time remaining before adjournment April 30.
Similar proposals in the House are still in committee.

Wheat Probe

HOUSTON (AP) — A congressional subcommittee will be in Houston Friday to probe "the vast difference in the amount the farmer receives for wheat and the price the housewife must pay for bread," U.S. Rep. William L. Hungate, DMo., said Tuesday.
Hungate and Reps. Neal Smith, D-Iowa and Bob Bergland, D-Minn., are acting as a subcommittee of the House Small Business Committee probing the wholesale-retail prices spreads of wheat.
They will visit four grain elevators on the Houston ship channel Friday, the Port of Houston's public grain elevator, Goodpasture, Inc., Cargill, Inc., and Union Equity Export.
"We are also seeking the cause of the big spread between the price the farmer receives for all his grain crops and the price they bring in Europe and Japan," Hungate explained about the visit to the elevators.
Port wheat shipments for 1971 were nearly 6,435,000 tons, officials here said.
Truitt Kennedy, Goodspature executive vice president, blamed the high cost of freight and union wage demands for the export spread.
Wheat that sells for $1.30 a bushel in Kansas had a 60 cent markup by the time it reaches its Japanese destination, mostly because of freight, he said.
"Some of the congressmen coming here may be the same ones who voted to allow railroads to increase their rates 25 per cent the past two years," Kennedy said.
The congressmen plan to use their findings here to plan hearings later this month. Hungate said they are dissatisfied with what they have learned from the U.S agriculture and commerce departments about the boostin of prices at the various levels of grain marketing.

Blood Test Law Bill To Senate

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A bill to stiffen Missouri's alcohol blood test law reached the Senate today with Judiciary Committee approval.
It is designed to aid the crackdown on drunken drivers. The amount of alcohol in the blood for a person to be deemed intoxicated would be lowered from .15 to .10 per cent. Most states have similar laws.
In action late Tuesday the committee also approved a "mini" no-fault divorce law adding two grounds for divorce — incompatibility and irreconcilable differences causing an irremedial breakdown in a marriage.
A person seeking a divorce would not have to prove good character and a judge would not have to find a petitioner the innocent party.

Ann Landers

Not All Husbands Dislike In-Laws

Dear Ann Landers: I don't mind the fact that when a husband's parents become old and sick, he expects his wife to cater to them, nurse them, help them, comfort them, do whatever lies in her power to make their last days easier. Any wife worthy of the name will do everything she can for her in-laws.

But when HER parents get sick and old, it's a different story. The husband curses under his breath, criticizes them, resents and argues about the time and money and energy she is spending on her old folks. The wife is cought like a rat in a trap -- torn between her obligation to her parents and her responsibilities to her husband. This is the dilemma faced by women of every ecomomic, intellectual and social strata. It's the time of life when a wife finally learns what a skunk her husband really is.

If your column is, as you claim, a true reflection of life as people live it, why don't you print some of the hundreds of letters you must receive on this subject? Or are you interested only in key-hole peeping, fun and games and a little polite sex? ---R. S. J. of Tulsa

Dear Mrs. R.: Of course, some husbands feel as yours does but there are also thousands of husbands who are wonderful to their wives' parents. My own husband, for example, adored my parents and treated them with great consideration.

One cannot get a true reflection of life by looking in the mirror. What you see my friend, is not life, but a reflection of your own misery.

Dear Ann Landers: I work for the American Cancer Society. My office faces the street and I can look out the window and see people as they do their shopping, hurrying from one place to another. During the holidays I saw hundreds of parents ladendown with expensive toys for their children. They wanted to make their youngsters happy. How strange and ironic that these same parents who would probably spend their last cent on a gift don't realize that the best gift a parent can give a child is himself -- his time, love and understanding. When this is missing, no other gift can take its place.

How many parents who smoke have been asked by their children to stop, yet they refuse. How many of these parents will die prematurely from lung cancer caused by cigarets? If these parents have no regard for their own lives they might at least consider what it means to their children. Thanks, Ann, for letting me say something that has been on my mind for a long time. --L. S., Waukesha, Wis., Unit, American Cancer Society

Dear L.S.; You took the words out of my mouth. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I was engaged to an oddball and he sort of broke the engagement. I kept the ring, which is a beautiful solitaire. I now have a new boyfriend who wants to buy me an engagement ring. I don't see why he should put out a lot of money since I already have a ring. I'd like to sell this ring to my new boyfriend and tell my ex-fiance that I sold his ring and give him the money. This way the boyfriend could buy me a lovely ring at a good price and the ex-fiance would get part of his money back.

What do you think?---Waiting in Council Bluffs

Dear Waiting: You say your ex-fiance "sort of" broke the engagement. If this is true the ring, according to law, is yours. If YOU sort of broke the engagement, the ring belongs to him -- in which case you have no right to sell it.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers guide to "Necking and Petting -- What Are The Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

ENDURANCE AND THE CHRISTIAN HOME

During Lent we need to give more careful attention to the words that Jesus spoke during His final week on earth.

Lent in modern days has placed too much emphasis on fasting, on sacrificing some well liked food or activity for forty days. Jesus would prefer that this be a time for one to review the role he must play if he is to be a disciple of Christianity.

Jesus stressed over and over the past was dead, calling on His followers to place their thoughts on tomorrow. Even during this climatic week He found it difficult to make His disciples understand the full impact of His predictions.

When Jesus foretold the destruction of the Temple, His followers wanted to know the exact date. They should have been more concerned about the "why" of the destruction.

Jerusalem was eventually destroyed by the Romans, with 1,100,000 persons killed. Not a stone was left in place. Some of the 40-foot columns had been cut out of single stones.

"The time is at hand," Jesus admonished them. He gave them the oft-quoted promise, "Heaven and earth shall pass away; but my words shall not pass away."

Everyone sought a specific sign, that indication of the Second Coming. Millions of travelers note roadside signs proclaiming "The end is near. Be prepared." The Time is still sought.

Jesus pledged difficult times. He warned of persecution and suffering; He urged them to develop patience and persistence.

"Patience is the highest form of courage," the late Lloyd George said. "Persistence and determination alone are omnipotent," President Calvin Coolidge once said. Winston Churchill offered no encouraging words when he told the English people he had only "blood, sweat and tears" for them.

In such times of need great leaders arise.

Today's world is changing so rapidly that many question the survival of religion as we now know it. Not too long ago, when the "God is Dead" movement swept America some "Christian atheists" dazed conventional believers, much as Jesus aroused the traditionalists in His day.

Jesus predicted wars, earthquakes, famines and pestilence. These people had experienced many of these disasters; they understood His threats. Yet many refused to follow his advice to be on guard, since "that day will come upon you suddenly like a snare."

In this final week Jesus spoke to large crowds that came early each day in the Temple. He knew the pressure was on Him; He had to talk often to many to get His message across.

Too many persons are unwilling to accept His words, to develop the patience He requires, or to have full confidence in His teachings.

Over and over He admonished them to believe His words, remembering that they were eternal and would never pass away.

In our rapidly changing society today we can overcome some of the fears voiced in the book Future Shock by returning to the Bible where Jesus made it clear--there are better times ahead. But one must be prepared.

Predictions generally are frustrated. No wonder the disciples were unsure of these words, especially since they desired interpretations with immediate applications. Jesus, on the other hand, wanted to prepare His people for the days ahead.

The POWER of FAITH

THE BIBLE

3. Cain and Abel

After Adam and Eve were driven from the Garden of Eden they tilled the ground. Eve gave birth first to Cain then his brother Abel. Cain grew up to be a "Tiller of the ground" and Abel was "keeper of the Sheep."

Cain made an offering to the Lord of the fruits of his labors in the ground and Abel did the same with the "firstling of his flock and the fat thereof." The Lord was pleased with Abel's offering for he had done well. He was not pleased with Cain's offering and Cain was very upset and jealous of his brother. The Lord told Cain that if he had done well he would have been accepted but if he hadn't he would have to pay the price. Cain was bitter and resentful and in the field he and Abel argued and in a rage Cain killed Abel.

"And the Lord said unto Cain, Where is Abel they brother? And he said, I know not; Am I my brother's keeper? And He said, What hast thou done? the voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto Me from the ground."

Genesis 4:9,10

The Lord put a curse on Cain that he would no longer be able to till the ground and he would be a fugitive and a vagabond on earth. In complete dejection Cain said he would be killed by anyone who knew of his crime. And the Lord said that anyone killing Cain would have vengeance taken on him, seven fold.

"And Cain went out of the presence of the Lord, and dwelt in the land of Nod, on the East of Eden."

Genesis 4:16

He married and had a son named Enoch. He built a city which he named after his son Enoch.

Grassroot Support For Church Reunion Claimed

NEW YORK (AP) — A modern wave of anti-institutionalism has caused a "failure of nerve" in many church officials about the quest for church reunion, an expert says. But he adds that the goal already is emerging and its attainment seems certain.

"It's not just a pipe dream," says the Rev. Dr. Paul A. Crow Jr., of Princeton, N.J., executive secretary of the Consultation on Church Union— COCU. "There's more momentum for it now than there ever has been."

But much of the impetus, he adds, is now coming from the local scene rather than from denominational centers.

"It's a new kind of pressure that is coming from the grass roots," he says, referring to the growth of cross-denominational coalitions forming among different congregations in many communities."

Interviewed prior to the current observance of the annual week of prayer for Christianity unity sponsored by Protestant, Orthodox and Roman Catholic bodies, Dr. Crow said the movement has entered a more realistic stage.

"It has moved past the oldstyle conciliarism of amiability when ministers got together and now is involving broader participation of the laity in the common functional arena," he said.

Dr. Crow, 39, an Alabamaborn church historian, left a seminary teaching post at Lexington, Ky., four years ago to administer the project seeking to unite nine American Protestant denominations totaling about 25 million people.

It is only one of about 50 different merger negotiations going on between Protestant denominations in many parts of the world, some of them nearing consumation.

Besides these, theological talks also are continuing between Roman Catholicism and the major Protestant and Orthodox traditions, with a growing list of agreements of various aspects of doctrine and practice.

Dr. Crow, who spends about half his time on the road meeting with various church groups to explain the basis and pattern for the proposed united church said the upsurge of local ecumenical clusters, coalitions, consortiums and alliances of various kinds, dealing with issues of race, drugs, poverty, peace and other matters, has produced a "new local ecumenism."

District Lay Rally Sunday

Approximately 500 Methodists are expected to attend Sunday's annual lay rally of the Poplar Bluff-Sikeston district of the United Methodist Church hosted by First United Methodist Church, North Main at North Kingshighway.

The rally will begin at 6 p.m. with a dinner served by the ladies of the First and Wesley United Methodist churches at both locations. Following the meal everyone will assemble at the First church for the meeting.

The speaker will be Bishop Eugene M. Frank of St. Louis, whose 16-year limit as bishop of this area expires this year.

Leading the rally in expressions of appreciation for Bishop Frank's years of service will be Dr. J. Clinton Hawkins of St. Louis, conference lay leader; Dr. E. W. Bartley of Poplar Bluff, district superintendent, and Joe Hall of Kennett, district lay leader.

Cabbie Takes Time To Give To The Lord

ARNOLD, Mo. (AP) — Taxi driver Gordon Young can't always get to church on Sunday, so quite often he makes a contribution to a handy church — any church.

In one case, Young, who is 58, drove a woman to Trinity Lutheran Church and when they arrived, he gave her $10 for the Sunday collection.

It happens that Young and his wife were members of the original congregation of New Hope Methodist Church in Arnold.

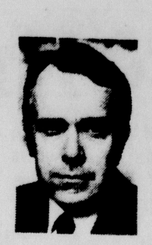

But that didn't stop him from donating $10 to the minister of Webster Hills United Methodist Church. Young was driving by, saw the minister shaking hands with parishioners at the front door and "I gave my bit to the Lord.

"The Lord has given me four healthy children and a good life, so if I have a fare headed for church, I give this way. If not, I can walk up to the church door."

Young is employed by the Laclede Cab Co. of St. Louis.

Attica Visit Eyed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)--Evangelist Billy Graham says he plans to visit Attica state prison, where 43 inmates and guards died in an insurrection last year. Graham told a news conference the inmates had invited him after hearing him on the radio a few weeks ago. He said he'd "be happy" to go at some future time.

DAVID POLING, D.D.

The Church Moves Toward the Center

By REV. DAVID POLING

A certain quiet and peace is settling in on the Christian community and it accompanies its move toward the center. The signals of this mood are coming from many directions. They are seen in the actions and words of churchmen. It is evident in the programming of the religious organizations. It is seen in the literature and liturgy of the people. It is happening and quite welcome.

All this follows a long decade of confrontation and conflict for our institutions in Western civilization. The church has been in on much of this by the nature of its mandate: people. The poor, the lonely, the disadvantaged. The young going to war. The old going into debt. Moral questions are always the best ones to solve, but usually carry high risk. Controversy finally settles upon people, joining, tearing, hurting and dividing. The cuts and wounds of social change have been borne by the church—not always on time, nor everywhere effective, but nevertheless absorbed. The warnings of the conservatives and the threats of the radicals have at least brought this conclusion: a movement toward the center. And at the center, there is genuine quiet, peace and fellowship.

The thought and actions of certain individuals tell the whole story, the move toward the center. Father Malcolm Boyd, the prominent Episcopal priest, may be the best example of this shift in gears. Boyd has been an honest participant in almost every round of social change to descend upon the Christian camp. Sometimes he was out on the front lines of civil rights, then Black Power, then Vietnam, the whole works. His books are widely read. He gets the big fee on campus talk shows. He is with it, as far as the front lines go, and his mood is much worth considering: Head toward the center.

Writing in a recent issue of "Christianity and Crises," Boyd confesses to a new perspective, a different beat. The clenched fist in the air has the look of a question mark:

"I get belly laughs from hard, humorless people whose macabre intensity rattles pictures in the hallway and scares the dog . . . I am chased headlong back into history by those who profess simply 'now' as their alpha and omega. Zealots shouting 'love' with hate in their eyes have horsewhipped me into the arms of gentleness."

Boyd knows all the slogans, all the tactics of confrontation, all the pleas for radical action. He rejects this by observing:

"I have learned that the fundamental prerequisite of any contribution I can make to world peace is the establishment of equilibrium at the center of my own life. I have found that the initial, essential way I can bring love to suffering, agonizing and loveless masses of humanity is to become a human being who freely gives and receives love."

He closes by sounding the theme which has softly touched the Christian church everywhere: "The collective center comprises individual parts, including my own, that can be predicated on the resolute search for reality and nourishment of hope."

The movement toward the center will have wide and generous support in the Christian household. Social action, theology, and personal religious development are vitally affected. And there are many who would add, that the direction toward the center is not the initiative of man but the movement of the Holy Spirit.

Lincoln Nears MIAA Crown

ST. LOUIS - Lincoln University, half-way home in its drive to an undefeated campaign in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association, will play two of its more prominent pursuers, Missouri U.-Rolla and Southeast Missouri State College, in upcoming games.

Don Corbett's Blue Tigers took a giant step toward their goal when they upset defending champion Northeast Monday, 88-66. The sixth MIAA triumph against no losses for LU came after a 94-73 decision over Northwest Missouri last Saturday.

By sweeping their two conference opponents the Tigers extended their winning streak to 7 in a row for a 13-4 overall record. They will be at home to Southeast but hit the road for a Monday game at Rolla where Billy Key's Miners are unbeaten in 8 games this winter.

Lincoln's performance in its second season of MIAA basketball has been remarkable. A year ago the Tigers finished 1-11 and last in the conference and were 6-19 overall. That was B.C. - Before Corbett.

Rolla, which seldom has created a stir in basketball, has been accepted by a vociferous following that yelled its head off in the Hall that Gale Bullman built when late free throws by John Ladner enabled UMR to nip Southwest Missouri, 70-69, last Saturday for the eighth straight home victory.

On Monday Rod LeGrand's late charity flips on a 1-and-1 situation provided the margin of victory in an 80-78 squeaker at Central Missouri. By finally winning after 8 road losses the Miners climbed to second in the MIAA with a 5-2 mark and improved their log to 9-8. The Miners won only 9 games all last season when they also lost 13.

Southeast Missouri has been flexing the muscles many believed would make a solid contender of Bob Cradic's Indians who now have won 6 in a row in a 12-5 season. They sqeuaked by Central's Mules, 77-73, and Southwest Missouri, 79-78, to improve their conference record to 5-3 and a tie for third with Northeast.

After playing at Lincoln Saturday, the Indians will be at home to Northeast Monday, entertain Central Missouri Feb. 19 and visit Southwest Feb. 21 in their only remaining MIAA games.

Northeast, slumping to 11-7 overall after suffering its third consecutive road defeat, will have no surcease from a possible road jinx as it plays at Southwest Saturday and at Southeast next Monday.

The SMS Bears, 3-4 in the MIAA and 5-10 overall, have 9 games in which to redeem themselves.

Central Missouri, 1-7 and 6-14, has lost an unbelievable 11 games in a row. Northwest Missouri, likewise 1-7 and 6-14, will engage the Mules in a struggle for last place when they play at Maryville Saturday.

Mustangs, Indians In Finals

STEELE - North Pemiscot coasted past South Pemiscot 62-34 in the B game and Hayti breezed by South Pemiscot 72-50 in the A contest here Thursday night in the Bootheel League tourney semifinals.

The Mustangs snuffed out the junior Bulldogs in the first period of the first game and ran up an 18-7 lead which became unsurmountable as the game continued.

South Pemiscot tried to fight back in the second quarter as the Bulldogs scored 13 points to 12 for the Mustangs but North Pemiscot came out after the intermission and used an impenetrable defense to hold the Bulldogs to 14 points in the entire second half, seven in each of the last two periods while NPHS was scoring 16 in each of the last two quarters.

NPHS hit 26 field goals to 24 for the Bulldogs, but the South hit only six of 13 free throw attempts to 10 of 13 for their northern rivals.

Curley Reedus and Frankie Gooden led the Mustang offense with 16 and 14 points respectively. David Madden was high for South Pemiscot with 14 points.

The second game of the evening saw South Pemiscot have a cold first and third period to fall victim to the Hayti Indians.

Hayti took the lead 15-10 after the initial period of play but the Bulldogs fought back to erase three of the five point lead the Indians enjoyed off before the half, scoring 17 points to 14 for Hayti.

Hayti iced the game in the third period using a tenacious defense coupled with some cold shooting by the Bulldogs to allow South Pemiscot only 14 points while they were ripping the nets for 24.

The last period was played evenly at 19 apiece as Hayti had the lead and just played well enough to hold on to the victory.

Randy Gardner scored 24 points to lead the Indians and Jim Wallace had 22 for South Pemiscot.

Friday nights action will pit Caruthersville against Hayti in the 6:30 B game and North Pemiscot will face Caruthersville in the 8:00 A contest.

Upsets Averted In Semifinals

HOLCOMB -- Clarkton defeated Campbell 52-45 to advance to the finals in the B bracket and Senath-Hornersville whipped Southland 79-45 in the semi-finals of the A bracket of the Dunklin Co. tourney played here Thursday night.

Upsets highlighted first round action as three upsets were recorded in four games.

The Raindeer overcame a 10 point deficit after the first half to win their game from the Camels.

Campbell jumped to a 15-8 first quarter advantage and took the second period 12-9 to lead 27-17 at the halftime break.

Clarkton came out in the third period and used a devastating press to overwhelm the Camels, taking the quarter 23-8 and forge into the lead 40-35 going into the final quarter of play.

The Raindeer continued to play tough defense and held onto the lead at the buzzer, scoring 12 points to 10 for Campbell in the period.

Randy Wiseman was the leading scoring for Clarkton with 16 points. Joe McElrath led the Camels with 15.

The nights main attraction saw the Lions build an unsurmountable 21-6 lead after one quarter and coast the rest of the way against a much smaller and outmanned Southland five.

Senath used their entire squad in the game with 11 men getting into the scoring column. Mark Moore was high for the Lions with 19 points. Bob Lambert led the Rebels with 16.

Friday night action will see Senath-Hornersville taking on Malden in the B game semi-final and Holcomb will challange Malden in the A game at 8:00. The finals will be Saturday night.

SEMO Streak Ended At 6

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Southeast Missouri State College blew a 49-45 halftime lead Thursday night and allowed Kentucky Wesleyan to snap the Indians six game win streak, 90-85 before a capacity crowd at Houch Field house.

Mike Williams, a 6-foot-3 junior guard from Trotwood, Ohio paced the Purple Panthers offense with 27 points, connecting on 10 of 23 field goal tries and seven of eight from the line.

Wesleyan broke the game open midway in the second half when it built an 18 point advantage, but Southeast battled back within four with two minutes left in the contest but lost starters Fred Johnson, Andrew Reid and Jim Anderson on fouls and the Tribe dropped their sixth game in 18 outs while the Kentucky visitors recorded their 12th in 18 battles.

Southeast went dead cold in its field goal shooting the second half, netting only 14 of 42 shots for a 33.3 average after posting a 43.3 mark through the first 20 minutes of play. Wesleyan had a 45.4 mark for the game and hit at that pace in each half.

A 11 of 20 free throw mark in the first half kept coach Bob Cradic's cagers from building any kind of lead. SEMO finished the game with a 61.3 shooting mark from the line while Wesleyan had a 58.8 average.

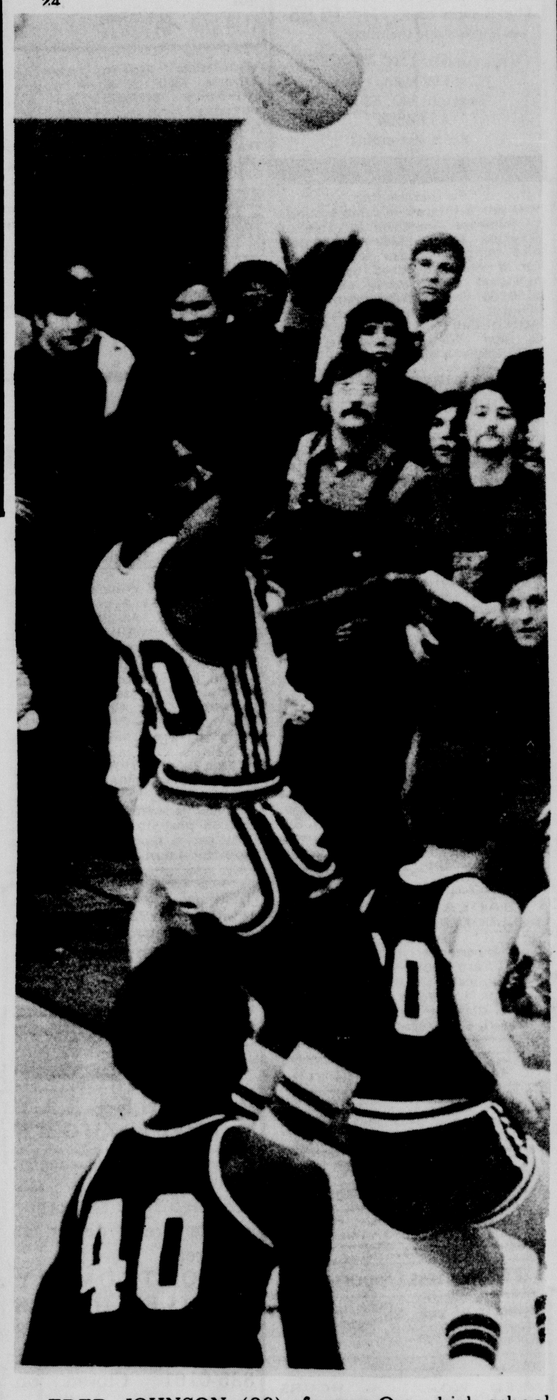

Johnson paced the Indians offense, which included four players in double figures, scoring 23 while Reid added 17, Dennis Maritz 15 and Leonard Bishop 14.

Lamar Paces College Scores

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Small college or major college, it's all the same to Dwight Lamar.

The NCAA college division scoring leader last season with a 35 point average, Lamar has picked up right where he left off, even though his school, Southwestern Louisiana, has switched into the major college ranks.

Lamar—on an off night—poured in 42 points Thursday to lead Southwestern Louisiana, 17-2 and ranked 13th in the nation, to a 95-83 victory over McNeese State. The 6-foot-1 guard currently leads the nation's major college scorers with a 35.8 average.

Although Lamar's scoring has been an instrumental factor in Southwestern Louisiana's success, he has had help—much of it from center Roy Ebron, who scored 22 points and pulled down 24 rebounds against McNeese.

The Cajuns led by only 45-43 at the half and did not manage to open the game up until late in the second half. Henry Ray scored 32 points to keep McNeese close.

Southwestern Coach Beryl Shipley said he felt Lamar did not have a good game.

"Lamar didn't have a good shooting night," the coach said. "I'm glad he got 42 points, but he tried about 41 shots.

"We didn't shoot well, but it was understandable," Shipley added.

"We are coming off a fivegame road trip and the boys are extremely tired."

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 5 Penn beat Columbia 69-59, No. 8 Long Beach State bowed to Fresno State 76-69 and No. 15 Memphis State was upset by St. Louis 7672.

The Quakers jumped off to a 30-15 lead midway through the first half and managed to stay at least nine points ahead of Columbia the rest of the way. Penn, 15-2, was paced by junior forward Phil Hankinson's 21 points.

Long Beach State scored just five points in the first 10 minutes as Fresno State built up a 15-point lead. The 49ers, now 18-3, never caught up.

The game was won at the free throw line, where Fresno State, 8-11, scored 28 points. Long Beach State, which saw three of its starters foul out, scored only nine points on free throws.

Clarence Metcalfe led the Bulldogs with 24 points. Ed Ratleff had 20 and Nate Stephens 18 for Long Beach.

Memphis State, trailing 37-20 at halftime, rallied in the second half but fell short of catching St. Louis.

"We just got beat," moaned Memphis Coach Gene Bartow. "We played poorly in the first half (sinking only six of 28 field goal attempts) and couldn't catch up."

Larry Finch of Memphis State, now 14-5, scored 26 points, 22 of them in the second half rally. The Billikens, 13-4, were led by Harry Rogers and Jesse Leonard, each of whom netted 21.

The Newspaper Story

NEWSPAPERS TODAY

The newspaper business today is one of America's great "growth" businesses, exceeding the growth of the U. S. economy as a whole for more than 20 years.

The actual production, or "manufacture," of newspapers is so massive that it ranks among the largest in industrial activity on the Federal Reserve Board's Index of Industrial Production, along with the auto industry, meat packing and the manufacture of drugs and medicines. In fact, newspapers rank higher than most of the nation's manufacturing industries.

The continuing, healthy growth of newspapers can be measueredin a number of ways.

CIRCULATION — Daily newspapers grew from 54 million papers daily in 1950 to over 62 million in 1971, an increase of 13.3%. Weekly newspaper circulation topped 29 million in 1971, a substantial increase over 1970, and an increase of approximately 44% since 1963.

NEWSPRINT CONSUMPTION increased from 4,300,000 tons in 1946 to 9,545,000 tons in 1970, a growth of 122%. This is an average of 325 pounds of newsprint per newspaper-reading family per year, or almost one pound per day.

CAPITAL OUTLAY — In 1969, 647 newspapers spent $169,000,000 for new plants, equipment and modernization and this amount was exceeded in 1970. Vast strides in newspaper production have been made in the past five years calling for complete replacement of old equipment and methods. More than one-third of all daily newspapers today are being printed by the offset method and, about two-thirds of all weekly newspapers. Investment of vast sums in new presses, new equipment and wonder - working computers is evidence of the faith newspaper owners have in the future of the medium.

EMPLOYMENT in the newspaper business has been increasing more rapidly than total employment in the United States. In the period 1947 through April 1970, newspaper employment grew from 248,500 to 373,200, a gain of 50.2%, a growth considerably larger than the 27.3% increase of all manufacturing employment and the 37.5% growth of total employment in the United States. This makes the newspaper business the fifth largest employer in the nation and 10th largest when measured by value of shipments.

NUMBER OF NEWSPAPERS — Unprofitable newspapers have died in recent years; others have merged and, indeed, some new newspapers have started. The total number of newspapers has changed little since World War II. More copies of newspapers, however, are being printed and sold today than ever before. This, to be sure, is the national economic pattern: Fewer retail outlets, fewer auto manufacturers, fewer clothing manufacturers . . . fewer, but larger, with increased production, more and better services, more jobs, higher salaries and improved standards to meet the demands of an expanding, changing, better educated population.

An open letter ot parents of the retarded in the State of Missouri:

Being the mother of a severley retarded child, I am indeed interested, as I feel all parents are: who want the best care possible for their retarded children: in the bill presently being considered by the Senate. The hopes for retardation division hinge on the Senate vote.

NOW is the time to speak up to and for the Senators and OTHERS who have given much time and effort in seeing the need for this separation within the Division of Mental Health.

I realize I'm only one parent (my husband shares my feelings) and can only speak about the type of care that my child requires, but then all of us know what we feel is the best type of care for our own.

At present my child is being cared for in a foster group home (referred to as UNLICENSED HOMES) and is receiving excellent care. The only reason that I know of why these are called "the unlicensed home" (as if it were a dirty word) is because there aren't any standards or code regulating them up to the present time. I'll admit that some I visited are not fit to care for the retarded, yet there are many who are doing a wonderful work in caring for the retarded. The important factor in placing a child is for the parents to visit the homes that are available and then decide, with the consent of the manager of the home, which is the best one suited to care for the needs of the child. for instance, a patient that is non-ambulatory, as in my own; should not be placed with those who are trainable and educable in the same home unless of course they can be separated in different rooms. Don't let someone tell you where to send your child....GO AND SEE FOR YOURSELF. YOU know more about your child's needs and the care you want for them.

I'm against the institutional type care for the retarded and think they could profitably be separated as follows:

TRAINABLE AND EDUCABLE— send to special schools such as State School No. 2 on Hiway S, east of Hillsboro, Mo. and the Sheltered Workshop which is also located on A Hiway, east of Hillsboro. These two are about one and one-half miles apart.

AMBULATORY — those who can walk and perhaps trained to feed and toilet themselves.

NON—AMBULATORY—NON-AMBULATORY—those who can neither walk, talk, feed themselves or be toilet trained.

The personal contact, care and consistency of the SAME persons, daily, means much to the adjustment of these children.

We can help our tax dollars do for us what we feel should be done by exercising our rights as individuals in letting our wishes be known by contacting the people in authorized places; starting with Dr. Harold Robb, Acting Director of the Division of Mental Health. 722 Jefferson, Jefferson City, Mo. DR. Ulett, Director, is out of the country.

If this bill should fail, then it seems to me that Dr. Robb would probably be the chairman of a committee to set up some type of standards for the NOW UNLICENSED HOMES to operate by. I'm led to believe that within the year, we can expect certain foster care home standards to be available to us which would include standards for programs and activities for retarded children as well as standards for physical care alone.

Let your wishes be known to Dr. Robb. How else can he know if we don't tell Him! He is in a position of leadership and surely would be influenced by our requests.

Respectfully submitted,

Mrs. Lela Hulvey
Hillsboro, Mo.

Mr. C.L. Blanton, Jr.
Daily Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Mo. 63801

Dear Mr. Blanton:

I was indeed saddened to learn of the surprise resignation of W. Raymert Miller as City Manager of Sikeston. Mr. Miller served not only Sikeston, but the entire Bootheel Region with dedication and unselfishness. It was my honor and privilege, as director of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, to observe his dedication to the highest principles of public service.

In my opinion, his high sense of purpose speaks well of those who selected and retained him as City Manager of Sikeston.

We hope that Mr. Miller will continue his leadership for the Bootheel citizens when he enters his new position.

Very truly yours,
Philip Shelton

What't The Law

Landlord Is A Miser

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Mr. Wimple owned an apartment house in a high-crime area where it wasn't only muggy in the summertime. Inside the building, it was "muggy" all year round. In fact, hold-up men were sometimes as numerous as the tenants. Consequently, the frightened tenants finally banned together and demanded that Mr. Wimple hire a doorman to keep out suspicious and undesirable intruders. Mr. Wimple, however, was tighter with a buck than Jack Benny and, having no statutory or lease obligation to provide a doorman, refused to expend a penny for that purpose.

"I'm your landlord," he told his tenants, "not your local police department."

"Maybe not," was the answer, "but at a landlord, you've got a duty to protect the life, health and safety of your tenants. And, in our crime-infested area, the only measure of protection you can give us is a doorman. Consequently, you're obligated to provide one."

The dispute ended up in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you require Mr. Wimple to unzip his change purse and provide a doorman?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that notwithstanding the envelopment of an area by a high-crime rate, a landlord has no duty to provide doorman service for tenants in the absence of a statute or lease provision requiring him to do so. In this case, noted that judge, Mr. Wimple was not subject to any such requirement.

POW Letter Received

PURDY, Mo. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Estes, residents of this small community 35 miles southeast of Joplin, said today they have received a letter from their son who has been a prisoner of war in North Veitnam for nearly four years.

Navy Lt. Cdr. Edward D. Estes, 37, had been on his second tour of duty in Vietnam when he was shot down in November, 1967, his mother said.

Mrs. Estes said the letter was one of 541 letters from POW's brouht out of North Vietnam by The Committee of Liaison, special messengers, to New York, where they were sent out individually.

In the six-line letter, postmarked Dec. 29, 1971, Estes asked his father about the quail hunting this year in Missouri. The handwritten message ended with, "May the most wonderful reunion be ours in the near future."

Estes has been in the service 16 years and was stationed at the LeMoor, Calif., Naval Air Station.

His wife, Bette, 37, and two sons, Edward, 11 and David, 8, are living on the base at LeMoor.

House Quits Until Monday

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Under the threat of an approaching ice and snow storm, the Missouri House worked only 40 minutes today and then quit until Monday.

As the House opened for business at 9:45 a.m. Speaker James E. Godfrey, D-St. Louis, announced to the 135 members present that he had received a report of six inches of new snow on the ground in Columbia, only 30 miles away.

The members registered for their $10 in daily expense money and then attendance dropped rapidly.

Before quitting, however, the House gave tentative approval to six bills, three of them routine easements on state property for utility purposes.

Others advanced would:

Increase the tax on rented private railroad cars from 1 per cent to 5 per cent. Missouri's railroad car tax is the lowest in the nation. The tax in other states ranges from 5 per cent to 9 per cent.

Provide for the election of junior college district trustees from subdistricts rather than at large.

As the House quit, Majority Leader Richard J. Rabbitt, DSt. Louis, announced that a scheduled meeting of the House Rules Committee had been postponed until Monday.

Caruthersville Boys Hurt

COTTONWOOD POINT— Two Caruthersville youths were injured in a one-car accident five miles north of here on route D at 11:15 p.m. yesterday.

Injured were Thomas Wright, 16, and Thomas Gurley, 17. Gurley suffered from lacerations and a broken right ankle, and Wright from minor injuries. Both were taken to Pemiscot County Hospital in Hayti.

The Highway Patrol said that the youths were driving south on route D at a high rate of speed when their 1961 Chevrolet left the road on a curve and overturned four times. The patrol has not yet been able to identify which of the teenagers was driving the car.

TV And Bed Spread Stolen

A television set and bed spread reported stolen yesterday from the Cyrus Motel on S. Main have been recovered.

The room from which the tv and bed spread were taken was rented to a couple calling themselves Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Duffy. Police said that the couple left the motel by cab, and when A.B. Cates, the manager, checked the room he discovered the theft.

Police then traced down the cab and found that it had delivered the couple to a house on Dorothy St. Police recovered the tv and bedspread there.

Police said that the Duffy couple had left the stolen items with a friend on Dorothy St. and then had left for St. Louis. The Duffys were supposed to return to Sikeston Thursday night, but apparently didn't.

Police Chief Arthur Bruce said that the Duffy's will be charged with grand larceny.

The television was a 19 inch black and white Motorola valued at $60 and the bed spread was valued at $12.

March 31 Billboard Deadline

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe Thursday gave Missouri until March 31 to enact a billboard control bill meeting federal requirements.

If Missouri meets that deadline, Volpe told Missouri Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, he will release $11.5 million in federal highway funds that have been withheld for noncompliance.

The state worked for days last week on a compliance bill but amended it to the point that the senators were confused. They didn't know whether the bill would meet requirements or even if the federal government would help defray the cost of removing billboards that would be illegal.

Last Monday the Senate decided to back up and start all over. The new try should at least start next week.

Utility Rates Frozen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acknowledging that its previous regulations were too vague, the Price Commission has temporarily frozen all private utility rates while it develops new guidelines for rate increases.

The commission said Thursday it will announce the new guidelines by March 10.

In the meantime, rates charged by privately owned utilities are frozen for up to 30 days at the rates that were in effect at midnight Wednesday.

The ruling temporarily blocks about 900 requests for increases totaling billions of dollars, the commission said. It affects virtually all electric, gas, telephone, telegraph, railroad, airline, intercity bus and trucking, barge and pipeline rates.

Publicly owned utilities, such as public mass transit systems and municipal water operations, are not affected. Their rates may go up during the freeze period.

Price Commission chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. said the commission will hold four days of public hearings beginning Feb. 22.

Grayson said the commission also wants to hear views of the general public. He said nearly 40 per cent of the commission's mail has concerned utility rate increases.

The freeze will remain in effect until the new guidelines are announced, Grayson said.

At the same time, the commission has extended its deadline for a final decision on many newly instituted rate increases until March 25, or 15 days after new regulations are issued, whichever is sooner.

This means that virtually all utility rate increases put into effect since the price freeze ended Nov. 14 remain subject to a possible rollback by the Price Commission until then.

Line Drawn On Concessions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has drawn the line against further concessions to the North Vietnamese until they negotiate on his eight-point peace proposal.

"The next step is up to the enemy. Our proposal is on the table and it is going to stand there until we get a reply from them," Nixon told a news conference in his White House office Thursday.

At the same time, the President appeared to hit somewhat harder at Democratic White House hopefuls who spurned his earlier plea for caution in their criticism of his Vietnam policy.

"The responsibility for the enemy's failing to negotiate may have to be borne by those who encourage the enemy to wait until after the election," the President said.

Although Nixon said the other side has not yet responded to the joint U.S.-South Vietnamese proposal made public Jan. 25, North Vietnamese leaders and diplomats have been quoted as rejecting it. The formula for peace includes a cease-fire, mutual troop withdrawal, and release of war prisoners.

North Vietnamese spokesmen have insisted the United States abandon support of the regime of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Thieu has expressed unhappiness over a statement by Secretary of State William P. Rogers that the United States remains flexible on details of a possible political settlement of the war.

But Nixon said he wanted to reassure the South Vietnamese president that "there will be no new proposals made unless it is a joint proposal."

Standing behind his desk, Nixon opened his news conference by giving a general rundown on plans for his trip to Communist China, which will start next Thursday.

The President said his visit and talks with Chinese leaders "will mark a watershed in the relations between the two governments" which have been at odds for more than 20 years.

Two Minor Traffic Mishaps

Police reported two minor accidents in Sikeston yesterday.

Police said that a 1969 Chrysler driven by Carla Regina Walden of 515 E. Kathleen struck a 1970 Chevrolet driven by Albert Leon Dockins of 417 Missouri.

Police said the accident occurred when the Walden auto struck Dockin's car as it pulled out into traffic on Malone.

In another accident, a 1964 Oldsmobile being driven south on Dixie St., by Eugene Lett of 107 Dixie, struck a 1969 Buick owned by Dorothy James of 1010 Maude St.

Police said that the James auto was struck in the left rear by Lett while it was parked in front of 205 Dixie.

Nineteen Men Escape Prison

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Nineteen men sawed their way out of the Warrensville Workhouse and escaped, prison officials said today.

The men cut through bars in a gymnasium, climbed onto a roof, dropped 24 feet to the ground and made what authorities believe was the largest mass escape in the institution's history.

One inmate was captured soon after the break Thursday night and two others were seized early today following a high speed-chase.

Irving Declined Comment About

Autobiography

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Author Clifford Irving declined comment today on a Los Angeles Times report that he and his research assistant told federal authorities they never met with Howard Hughes, subject of Irving's purported "autobiography."

At the same time Irving termed "a vicious lie" a report in The New York Times that he and a Los Angeles Times book reviewer were going to collaborate years ago on a Hughes biography.

"People are looking for fallguys," Irving told newsmen at his hotel in New York. "It astonishes me that so much space has been devoted to this."

Meanwhile, the New York Times reported that Irving was seeking to exchange his cooperation in the federal fraud investigation for legal protection for his wife against prosecution in the tangled case in the United States and Switzerland.

Asked for comment, Irving's attorney, Maurice Nessen, said, "I deny the accuracy of both stories, and I am much concerned that such stories should be given headlines."

He added, "I feel there shouldn't be any further comments."

The federal probe continued in Madrid, where U.S. prosecutor John J. Tigue arrived today after spending two days with another investigator looking into secret bank accounts in Zurich, Zwitzerland.

Tigue would say only that he expected an exchange of information with Spanish authorities about the case and refused to acknowledge whether he would pick up tapes and documents taken from the Irvings home on Ibiza off the coast.

Dr. William Beckett Is Dexter

Hospital Chief

DEXTER — Dr. William Beckett was introduced as the new chief of staff of the Dexter Memorial Hospital last night at the annual hospital membership meeting held at the Hickory House.

Dr. Beckett lives in Dexter but practices in Bloomfield and replaces Dr. Richard Comeau. A new chief of staff is chosen by the medical staff once a year. Dr. Ronald Hill was chosen the assistant chief of staff and Dr. John Morgan the secretary of the medical staff.

Effective March 1 there will be an increase in room rates at the hospital, the first since the hospital opened in 1968. The action is necessary to cover the increases in cost of operation and personnel costs.

The hospital administrator, Jack Norman said "I don't know at this time what the increase will be, we are trying to get qualifications from the Internal Revenue Service. We hope the rates will be $32 for a semi- private and $42 for a private." The room rate at the hospital now is $28 for a semi- private and $38 for a private room.

It was pointed out that Dexter Memorial Hospital, at this time, still has the lowest room rate for private and semi- private rooms in this area.

Five directors were elected at the meeting for a three-year term to replace those directors whose terms expire this year. The new directors are John William Ringer, president, Bob Robbins, Yewell Lawrence, C. C. Shell and Mrs. Elenore Sisler.

The annual progress reports were given by Ringer. The hospital will pay off the remainder of its bonds in the amount of $130,000 April 1. during the year the hospital utilized various seminars for hospital employes to provide better patient care.

Statistics for 1971 showed 2,082 admissions; 191 births; 2,300 treated in the emergency room; 550 surgical procedures. There were 64 full time employees and 18 part time employees with an annual payroll of $348,500. There are nine doctors on the staff.

Two new doctors joined the staff last year. They were Dr. John Mrogan and Dr. Ronald T. Hill.

Norman reported that the hospital now has a new EKG reader and that by computer the staff can obtain a reading minutes after it is taken. "This is very valuable to the doctor and his diagnosis," he said.

There will soon be a new paging system for the doctors with a radio at the hospital. Each doctor will carry a receiver at all times which will work within a 25 mile radius of the hospital. X-ray and laboratory technicians will also carry receivers.

Norman complimented the hospital auxiliary for its efforts in donating in excess of 6,000 volunteer hours and approximately $3,900 which has been used to concrete the basement floor of the hospital. Also complimented was Doris McCoy, LPN, director of the candy stripers for their assistance and the funeral homes in the areas for their ambulance service.

Guests at the meeting were Ray Call, president of Missouri Utilities, home office, Cape Girardeau and Jim Lansmon, treasurer of Missouri Utilities, Cape Girardeau.

Noranda Testimony Monday

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Testimony begins Monday in federal court on a $1.5 million damage suit by Noranda Aluminum Inc., of New Madrid, Mo., against the Carpenters and Millwrights union.

The firm said an 11-day strike in the summer of 1970, over a jurisdictional work dispute, caused a construction delay which resulted in additional expenses such as overtime pay, rental charges, extra interest on borrowed money and other overhead costs.

Morris J. Levin, attorney for Local 618 of the union, with headquarters in Sikeston, Mo., said the millwrights had been assigned the work on gates and chutes of the giant plant in Southeast Missouri, but the work was done by steamfitters.

He said the original damage amount in the suit was $1.8 million but this was lowered after pre-trial conferences.

The non-jury trial will be in the court of U. S. District Judge James Meredith. It is expected to take at least two weeks.

Noranda is a subsidiary of Noranda Mines, Limited of Toronto, Canada. Production at the wire and rod mill began about a year ago.

Company officials have blamed inflation, jurisdictional work disputes and featherbedding practices by some unions for increasing construction costs by about 50 per cent.

Crime Lab Use

Robert Briner, director of the L.E.A. crime laboratory in Cape Girardeau holds a one-ounce jar of processed marijuana in his right hand and a leaf of the plant in a plastic case in his left. The ounce of marijuana would make about 20 cigarettes and is worth about $15, Briner said.

Robert Briner

Law Meeting

Law enforcement officers from Scott, Stoddard and Mississippi counties met last night at the Community Room of the First National Bank to hear Robert Briner explain the services available to them from the crime laboratory in Cape Girardeau.

Briner is director of the Law Enforcement Assistance Laboratory which is located on the campus of Southeast Missouri State College.

Briner said that the lab was begun in 1969 because local law enforcement agencies were handicapped by the lack of a nearby lab. Prior to that time, all laboratory work was done in Jefferson City.

Briner said that the lab is equiped to handle most problems brought to it, from analyzing paint chips to detecting minute traces of narcotic.

Briner dealt heavily in his talk with the problems of drug detection, which so far has provided the lab with the bulk of its cases. He said that there did not appear to be much of a problem with hard drugs, such as heroin, in the Bootheel, although some does show up occasionally.

Briner said that drug pushers can be clever in camoflaging their products. He told the group that blue LSD pills are quite common. The purpose of the blue tablet is to hide the LSD, which turns blue during the laboratoyr's color tests. Since blue LSD on a blue pill can't be seen, the pushers hope to escape detection. Briner added that the ruse doesn't work -- the lab can seperate the LSD out of the tablet and confirm its existance.

He added that LSD is a difficult drug to detect in the lab and virtually impossible to detect using field equipment.

Briner added that misuse of drugs is not a problem found just in the ghettos of the large cities, but that it is found in the rural areas also.

"People should be made aware of the problems in their area," he said, but then added, "We shouldn't get them alarmed."

John Wilson, assistant prosecuting attorney, told the police officers that care must be taken when handling evidence. He said that it should be tagged and kept in an inaccessable place. If too many people have access to evidence, he said, the prosecutor's case could be jepardized.

He said that it is customary for the prosecutor and the policeman to have a pretrial conference and go over the officer's report to clear up details.

"Sometimes we discover things that weren't in the report and then have to find a new angle on the case," he said.

He added that when the officer is on the witness stand his answers to questions put to him should be as short and concise as possible and that the officer should not volunteer information, but to give answers only to the questions put to him.

PET POPULATION CONTROL

Believe it or not — man's best friend, the dog, has become a major social problem. It is virtually impossible to avoid encountering one or more roving strays during any day of the week. What the public may not know is that these animals are killed by the millions each year in an effort to control the pet population explosion.

So that the reader may have a glimpse of the daily activity in a Society For The Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Animal Shelter, excerpts from a letter written by a female SPCA Animal Shelter worker are parphrased as follows: I put on old clothes and receive from the public terrified, vomiting pets and adopt pets to them. I spend seven 10-hour days hosing out runs, feeding the animals and gaining their trust; and select the 20 or 30 cats and dogs that have to be killed each day in order to make room for the 20 or 30 newcomers. In addition to killing the day's quota of perfectly healthy animals I have to dispose of their bodies.

The California Humane Council reported recently that during the fiscal year of 1969-70, California counties and cities spent a combined total of $23 million on animal control. They estimated that private citizens and humane societies spent an additional $30 million to board, feed, and eventually destroy millions of homeless cats and dogs. The Council believes the figure for 1970 may have reached $100 million if all costs were known. And that is for a single state: California!

The long term solution to the problem may be both privately and publicly owned low cost spay and neuter clinics. Edward Newman, President, California Humane Council, states: "We pioneered in getting low cost spay clinics in Los Angeles when we originated a petition in the winter of 1969 advocating the establishment of such a municipally owned and operated clinic in Los Angeles. The fees set by this pilot clinic booked up months in advance.... If the fee is moderate, the public, as proved by the Los Angeles spay clinic program, will take advantage of it."

The publicly owned low cost spay clinic may solve two problems: (1) resolve thepet population explosion, and (2) reduce the expanding governmental bureaucracy required to cope with current methods of animal control.

Jay Miller, Brookfield, brought in a rather interesting old advertisement, featuring the original Presidential proclamation for Thanksgiving, which was written in the unmistakable style of its author, Abraham Lincoln.

The proclamation says:

"The year that is drawing toward its close has been filled with the blessings of fruitful fields and healthful skies. To these bounties, which are so constantly enjoyed that we are prone to forget the source from which they come, others have been added, which are of so extraordinary a nature that they cannot fail to penetrate and soften the heart which is habitually insensible to the ever-watchful providence of Almighty God. In the midst of a ... war ... the laws have been respected and obeyed, and harmony has prevailed everywhere, except in the theater of military conflict ...

"Needful diversions of wealth and of strength from the fields of peaceful industry to the national defense have not arrested the plow, the shuttle, or the ship .... and the mines, as well or iron and coal as of the precious metals, have yielded even more abundantly than heretofore. Population has steadily increased, notwithstanding the waste that has been made in the camp, the siege and the battlefield ...

"No human counsel hath devised, nor hath any mortal hand worked out these great things, They are the gracious gifts of the Most High God, who, while dealing with us in anger for our sins, hath nevertheless remembered mercy.

"It has seemed to me fit and proper that they should be solemnly, reverently, and gratefully acknowledged as with one heart and one voice by the whole American people. I do, therefore, invite my fellow citizens in every part of the United States, and those who are at sea and those who are sojourning in foreign lands, to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November next as a day of thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father who dwelleth in the heavens ...

RAINY DAY ... and JOBS, TOO

The following information is for those Americans — all 17 of them — who are socking money away in the bank like crazy and feeling guilty about it.

Despite what you may have heard, the money you put in a savings account does as much for the economy as money spent directly for consumer goods and services, says the United States Savings and Loan League. It "works" just as hard in creating jobs and new business enterprises, while having the additional advantages of building your own future purchasing power as it contributes to your financial stability and independence.

* Deposits in savings and loan associations, for instance, go to finance a wide range of loans for housing purposes.

* Money saved at mutual savings banks is used to finance housing and real estate developments and to buy corporate bonds.

* Money saved at commercial banks goes for a wide range of purposes, including the financing of businesses, commercial enterprises and to buy municipal bonds, whose proceeds pay for job- creating government projects.

* Money placed in credit unions is earmarked for consumer loans to purchase all kinds of goods and services.

Now you can smile all the way to the bank.

STABLE FLOWER CURRENCY

The dollar may float (or sink), yens, marks and francs may rise or fall, but the "fleurin" remains the world's most stable currency.

While government finance ministers fretted during the latest monetary crisis and President Nixon held summit meetings with world leaders, 40,000 florists in 120 countries calmly continued filling orders with no fears about payment.

As members of the worldwide chain, "Fleurop-Interflora, "they reckon payments in "fleurin," a nonmaterial money defined as 25 U.S. cents, two British shillings or one Swiss franc, depending on which of three nonprofit regional clearing houses handles billings. (In the United States, florists may belong to Florists' Transworld Delivery (FTD) or Teleflora.)

According to Dutch journalist Will J. Reckman, writing in "European Community," published by the European Community Information Service, the "fleurin" remains fixed until a revaluation or devaluation occurs. During times of uncertainty, the regional offices absorb any losses because the international crossflow of orders tends to balance things off.

Spiritual father of Fleurop- Interflora was Max Huber a florist in Berlin at the beginning of the century, who originated the idea of transmitting flower orders to different cities by telephone or telegraph, rather than sending the flowers through the mail.

By 1908 there were 98 German florists in the chain. The idea spread to other countries, and in 1927 Fleurop was founded in Zurich, Switzerland.

Last year the organization handled some 27 million orders — or about one order a second — representing a total of 850 million "fleurin."

NEW YORK (AP) — There is one time in the year when I feel like hiding in bed all day with the covers pulled over my head.

That is on St. Valentine's Day.

I am allergic to it. It is a redhearted day for all the earth's lovers, but Valentine's Day is just another nosebleed to me.

Nothing nice ever happened on Valentine's Day to me.

The only thing I ever got on Feb. 14 was trouble.

It all started on Feb. 14, 1916, the year the Battle of Jutland was fought and I entered kindergarten.

I bought an insulting penny valentine and started to leave it on the desk of the manliest little girl in the class, of whose muscles we were all in awe.

Someone in the class ratted on me, and the next thing I knew this 65-pound baby tigress was sitting astride my chest and pounding my head on the wooden floor. I still wake up every Valentine's morning with a ringing in my ears.

I guess I must have been 12 when I was a street newsboy and fell deeply in love with blonde middle-aged wife of a man who ran a cleaning shop. She was so tall I had to make echoes if I wanted her to look down and smile at me.

On Valentine's Day, while she was in the back of the shop, I put a newspaper on her desk as usual—plus my gift, a box of cheap face powder—and fled.

Later, she called me back to her shop and handed me a sealed envelope. Outside, I opened it with trembling hands—and out fell a dollar bill.

No life before or since has ever been so crushed in ignomy. No lacy valentine, no tender note—just a paltry buck. Did she think a love as fine as mine was for sale?

On Feb. 14, 1943 in Tunisia I bit down on an Army-rationed Tootsie Roll—and out fell one of my teeth. I still keep it among my Valentine's Day souvenirs.

But the worst of my blunders came on Feb. 14, 1938, when I had been married only a few months. I had failed to buy my new wife a gift and when she remarked about it, I said:

"Why should I give you a present? We're married now. Valentine's Day is a single girl's racket."

Well, that unfortunate husbandly remark has been haunting me for 34 years now.

A happy St. Valentine's Day? Impossible. It's a kind of Doomsday to me.

LINCOLN'S IDEOLOGY

If the cause is right, it will triumph. Upon this simple truth, for which the Bible stands from beginning to end, Abraham Lincoln based all his ideology and all his actions. This powerful yet peaceful man was led by his convictions into conflicts and tensions, doubts and despairs which his retiring spirit would often have evaded. He was a diffident man, haunted by uncertainty on innumerable occasions. Yet his dilemmas invariably ended in a settled conviction that, with all the odds against him, all the strength gone from him, if the cause were right, it would inevitably triumph.

After the loss of Ann Rutledge, he was so uncertain in his love life that he seems to have married Mary Todd on a rebound, and as a refuge from his hesitations. He was reluctant to identify himself with any denominational creed, no doubt because he was aware of the self-righteousness of the many voices which argued and thundered from pulpits and platforms. Yet this tall, taciturn, silent and beloved man, who became a master of lucid English and a leader in whom millions put their trust, lived out the New Testament day by day.

He had a revealing fondness for cats. He could not resist the appeals of distressed women, particularly if their sons were at the war he was waging. He refused to make quick decisions. Again and again he was unsure as to what he was going to say until the moment when he made his pronouncement. He believed that slavery could be abolished by constitutional means, because the cause was right and it would triumph. His physical strength was a byword but his gentleness was a healing balm. We can with confidence claim that he was led by the Holy Spirit, until the day when he became a martyr to the fanatic psychopath who gathered into his unbalanced mind the hatred of Lincoln's opponents.

If the cause is right, it will triumph. This simple Lincolnese sentiment can be of comfort to the many who are anxious about the present state of the world. All this nation's misfortunes, even all the world's misfortunes, from earthquakes to student riots, are flashed across the screens until we are loaded with concern and tortured by feelings of frustration and helplessness.

Let us do what we can in the best way we know how, and then believe with one of the world's great statesmen that the righteous cause will ultimately triumph. Many of our present tensions are a by-product of the working out of this principle of divine control, justice and loving care.

Accepted and lived by, this belief is the peace of God that passes all understanding.It cannot be described, but it can be known, as it was by Abraham Lincoln who was born in a little cabin in Kentucky on February 12, 1809.

What better word could be given to the Boy Scouts of America, whose week we celebrate? They will grow up to see evil cast down and right enthroned if they will learn how to read their Bibles and the signs of their times in events reported daily.——The War Cry.

TWISTED MEANINGS

The people of Chile may be surprised to hear that, according to the Moscow sect of world Marxism, Chili has just completed its first year of popular government. Further, this "popular" government (headed by Marxist Salvador Allende who was elected by only 36% of the popular vote) has, again according to the communists, "accomplished more than had been achieved in the whole of the country's history."

Communists twists meanings to the point that good people have trouble communicating because of communist destruction of language. The fact is that Chile had long been one of the few Latin American nations with a history of popularly elected, non-dictatorial governments. Chile had problems. as does every nation, but nothing like the problems caused by Allende and his Castro-backed revolutionaries who are destroying the nation.

Two recent elections show that Allende soon will have to take the usual communist step of suspending elections to prevent his Marxist party from losing every election. Communist "land reform" has resulted in bands of hoodlums going about the country seizing farms from peasants and landed gentry alike, disrupting crop production and threatening mass hunger.

Decent people are fleeing Chile in droves. Non-communists have been assassinated or jailed and harassed unmercifully. Moscow is proposing means of giving Allende credits of $500 million, but Allende is in debt by billions and has just about killed all foreign investment by his policy of confiscation of assets. The non-communists in Chile will long rue the day they failed to unite against the minority of communists, thus losing their freedom. There is a lesson for all of us here. HLH.

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--Donald Nixon, the President's likeable, loquacious brother, is an inveterate wheeler-dealer.

He talked expansively about his business ventures recently to a few visiting businessmen. One was my associate George Clifford, posing as a realtor.

They met in a big, pastel building just off the Los Angeles-San Diego freeway in Fountain Valley, Calif.

The sign outside said "Hallamore Homes," but the proprietors were building empires, not houses. They were floating a stock offering; they were trying to line up customers for their modular housing; they were hustling; they were playing for the big buck.

Everything about their operation looked big. The founding father, Lloyd G. Hallamore, was large enough to dwarf most football linemen. His son, Barry, was even bigger.

But the biggest man in the room was Donald Nixon, who is only six-foot-two in physical size but sits high on the shoulders of the President of the United States.

The stocky, amiable Nixon, who was wearing blue trousers and a light blue, open-necked sports shirt with a monogram on the breast pocket that looked like a jelly smudge, did most of the talking.

--GOVERNMENT DEALS--

He said the Navy was close to purchasing 1,200 Hallamore homes for personnel at El Toro Marine Air Station, near Richard Nixon's San Clemente estate.

Donald said other deals were being worked with Fred Harvey, Inc., a concessionaire in the national parks, which depends on the continued good will of the Interior Department to keep its lucrative contracts.

Donald Nixon winked.

He had also encountered considerable interest in Hallamore homes, he said, while traveling abroad as a vice president for the Marriott Corp., a large restaurant, food catering and hotel chain.

In Greece, he discussed modular houses with Aristotle Onassis, husband of the widow of the man who defeated Donald's brother in the 1960 presidential race. Donald remembered that Onassis had sent to his hotel room roses with the longest stems he had ever seen.

There was also interest in Hallamore homes, said Donald, in Spain, Portugal and Brazil.

"The director of the National Bank in Spain told me he wanted these houses over there," Donald said, and he winked.

Suddenly, he fixed his gaze on a visitor connected with the airline Air West.

"How do I get Air West?" Donald demanded. "We ought to do their catering. They owe me that."

--HIGH FINANCE--

After the meeting, the participants drifted away. Four of them, including Donald Nixon and George Clifford, went to a roadside restaurant not far from the Hallamore plant.

"I've already eaten," Donald said from his side of the booth. But he eyed the menu hungrily and ordered a "melted burger"--a hamburger with melted cheese on pumpernickle--and a chocolate milk shake.

"Don't tell my wife," he said, and he winked again. He has a serious weight problem. But he would rather talk about making money than losing weight. He told about his deal with Hallamore.

"They have promised me 25 per cent of their stock," he said, satisfaction and melted cheese on his lips. "And I'm going to de a director of San/Bar." This corporation, he said, would handle foreign sales of Hallamore homes.

Then he embarked on a rambling discourse of his activities abroad. He was asked whether he planned to accompany his brother on the presidential trip to Peking.

Donald's face took on all the earnestness that Richard Nixon displays on television. "Oh, no," said Donald. "Only my brother and his closest advisers will go."

Then he grinned, and his left forefinger jabbed the air.

"But remember this," he said, "don't overlook the possibility of trade with China. And with Russia. There is an opportunity there. Someone has to do business with them."

Footnote: A spokesman for the Naval Facilities Engineering Command confirmed that the Marines had been looking at Hallamore homes but hadn't decided whether to install any at the El Toro station. Hallamore is the subcontractor, meanwhile, in another bid to provide modular homes for the Air Force. Fred Harvey, Inc., has decided against installing Hallamore homes in Death Valley and the Grand Canyon, a spokesman said.

--UNDER THE DOME--

Accident Prone--Rep. Seymour Halpern, R-N.Y., recently returned unscathed from an 11-nation narcotics investigation. In Vietnam, he had to be rescued from a downed helicopter. In Thailand, he left the Imperial Hotel minutes before it burned to the ground. In Turkey, he was chased from a poppy field by irate women field workers, who got after him with hoes and stones. Safely back home, Halpern reached into his oven without thinking and grabbed a hot Corning Ware pot with his bare hands. "I heard my fingers sizzle," said the Congressman, nursing three bandaged fingers.

Pistol-Packing Papa--Dapper Rep. Dan Flood, D-Pa., whose twirled waxed mustache gives him the look of an old movie villain, packs a small foreign-made automatic pistol when he's on the streets of Washington. He was forced to disarm temporarily because his Washington pistol permit expired. But he took a look at the crime statistics and quickly re-applied. Flood doesn't carry his pistol on the House floor nor in his Pennsylvania district, he tells us. In both places, he is sufficiently loved not to have need of a sidearm.

Chiseling the Children: Unchecked Ineligible Welfare Clients Costing One Big City $60 Million Annually.

by Victor Riesel

NEW YORK--This is a progress report on the search for those hundreds of millions of welfare dollars stolen or wasted before they get to the needy--and one the drive to expose the pilferers of these funds who thus deprive the needy, yes, including hungry widows and orphans.

In classic tradition, comedy is mixing with tragedy as welfare and Medicaid funds disappear or are mishandled to the tune of hundreds of millions of dollars annually in this state alone.

There is, for example, the indignant lady, angered by abuse of the Medicaid program, who put her Great Dane on Medicaid. She was discovered. Her case was rushed to the district attorney for prosecution. Nonetheless, the Machine dispatched a renewal card to her dog.

But what of the three dentists each of whom during 1968-69, it was recently discovered, were paid in excess of $1 million? One of them got $1.3 million. Three others were reimbursed by Medicaid for more than $750,000 each. And still three others got more than $300,000. Yet health department officials testified before a grand jury here that the typical dentist in private practice working full time could earn some $60,000 annually.

What of the "phantom bridges" practice--charging for dentures never provided to patients? Thus they literally took the money out of the mouths of the poor.

So while the Great Dane of the angry Mrs. Lustig may be prosecuted, the dentists--known technically as vendors to the Social and Rehabilitation Services section of the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare--still are practicing.

It's a difficult maze into which to probe nationally, so I've chosen New York as the site of my dig--though they tell me that Massachusetts has the worst administered welfare and Medicaid system in the land.

If the Bay State is worse than New York, small wonder the national deficit is chasm-ing out. Here, for example, New York City has been charged with being so inefficient in discovering welfare ineligibles that some $60 million annually is wasted on those who should not be receiving a penny a year. The figure comes from the venerable State Controller Authur Levitt. And over 40 per cent of these lost dollars are contributed by the Federal government.

Certainly Levitt's report is no attack on public aid to the ailing, the handicapped, the impoverished, the fatherless--and motherless--children wandering our inner cities. Levitt is a New Deal liberal, and he is an unimpeachable auditor. We take his word therefore that $60 million annually is going to those who need it not.

And from this city's Human Resources Administrator comes word that the "welfare Machine," already in disrepute, is in such disrepair that the city is losing some $24 million annually because it can't cut clients off the list even after they are known to be ineligible, or have reported they no longer want welfare money or they have simply gone away.

There are some 10,000 such cases regularly on the termination and suspension list. They cost $2 million a month to maintain. Checks continue to go out to these un-people. And they are only part of a backlog of 160,000 "actions" on which millions more appear to be wasted annually.

It is the opinion of the respected, first in the nation, State Welfare Inspector General George Berlinger, that "scores of millions of dollars have gone down the drain" in New York City welfare administration. He has sampled the cash payout rosters and concludes that at least 10 per cent of the persons on them are ineligible.

No minor fiscal matter this. There are over 1.2 million people on public assistance here. Most of them suffer the moral and physical pangs of hunger-- and some of us still remember such pains. But that should not and must not be used to decry those who reveal that there are welfare clients who own three cars, or real estate, or conceal mystery husbands in locked closets.

Money saved may be some hungry family saved. California did it. According to information passed on to Inspector General Berlinger here, there would have been at least 400,000 more people on the Calfornia relief rolls than there are now if the state hadn't reorganized its assistance system. Word is that this is saving $100 million annually.

There are those who charge that such reorganization is counter social. Is it a crime to save the working peoples' money?

Dear Editor:
It is refreshing to read that not all Federal Agencies are "Spenders" without return of any funds to the taxpayers.
The Federal Bureau of Investigation has just finished its 1971 record with flying colors. Savings and recoveries by the F.B.I. under J. Edgar Hoover accounted for $510 million of $1.61 return for every dollar appropriated for F.B.I. operations.
Congratulations to Mr. Hoover and the F.B.I.

Satellite Debris

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee staff report says debris which fell over Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas two years ago came from a Soviet satellite of unknown orbit of the payload."
The report said the statellite became "of special interest" when it fell in the American Midwest. Some of the debris the report said, was several feet in maximum dimension and weighed scores of pounds.
"No public interpretation has been made of the significance of these pieces," the report stated.
The report said the Soviet Union was known to have been testing both the orbiting bomb system and the inspector statellite system at the time.
The inspector satellite system was designed to match orbits with potentially dangerous foreign satellites, inspect and destroy them, the report said.
It said the satellite, launched Dec. 23, 1969, was unique on at least two counts.
"It flew at the same inclination as a FOBS Fractional Orbit Bombardment Satellite yet seems to have maneuvered more in the manner of the inspector destructor series.
"It left some debris at an intermediate orbit but its carrier rocket was placed in the same more extreme eccentric orbit of the payload."

Wheat Probe

HOUSTON (AP) — A congressional subcommittee will be in Houston Friday to probe "the vast difference in the amount the farmer receives for wheat and the price the housewife must pay for bread," U.S. Rep. William L. Hungate, DMo., said Tuesday.
Hungate and Reps. Neal Smith, D-Iowa and Bob Bergland, D-Minn., are acting as a subcommittee of the House Small Business Committee probing the wholesale-retail prices spreads of wheat.
They will visit four grain elevators on the Houston ship channel Friday, the Port of Houston's public grain elevator, Goodpasture, Inc., Cargill, Inc., and Union Equity Export.
"We are also seeking the cause of the big spread between the price the farmer receives for all his grain crops and the price they bring in Europe and Japan," Hungate explained about the visit to the elevators.
Port wheat shipments for 1971 were nearly 6,435,000 tons, officials here said.
Truitt Kennedy, Goodspature executive vice president, blamed the high cost of freight and union wage demands for the export spread.
Wheat that sells for $1.30 a bushel in Kansas had a 60 cent markup by the time it reaches its Japanese destination, mostly because of freight, he said.
"Some of the congressmen coming here may be the same ones who voted to allow railroads to increase their rates 25 per cent the past two years," Kennedy said.
The congressmen plan to use their findings here to plan hearings later this month. Hungate said they are dissatisfied with what they have learned from the U.S agriculture and commerce departments about the boostin of prices at the various levels of grain marketing.

Blood Test Law Bill To Senate

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A bill to stiffen Missouri's alcohol blood test law reached the Senate today with Judiciary Committee approval.
It is designed to aid the crackdown on drunken drivers. The amount of alcohol in the blood for a person to be deemed intoxicated would be lowered from .15 to .10 per cent. Most states have similar laws.
In action late Tuesday the committee also approved a "mini" no-fault divorce law adding two grounds for divorce — incompatibility and irreconcilable differences causing an irremedial breakdown in a marriage.
A person seeking a divorce would not have to prove good character and a judge would not have to find a petitioner the innocent party.

Amendments Are Dead

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Sen. Albert M. Spradling, D-Cape Girardeau, said today two broad constitutional amendments to reorganize the state government are dead for this session.
He blamed opposition of the colleges and universities to one proposal that would have established a coordinating board with broad powers over higher educational policies, plus the fact that some state agencies wanted to preserve their own little empires unchanged.
He said the negative attitude of the schools created a negative atmosphere for both plans.
One of the recommendations of the Governmental Reorganization, or "Little Hoover," Commission would have grouped all 90—some state agencies under 10 main departments. It ran into opposition from many agencies.
Spradling said offering the proposals was an educational exercise for the legislature that cost the state $200,000.
"The legislature gave them (the commission) $200,000, then said 'We don't want it'," Spradling said.
As of today, he noted the Senate has about 100 bills on its calendar ready for debate and anything coming out of committee after this week would be impossible to pass in the time remaining before adjournment April 30.
Similar proposals in the House are still in committee.

Ann Landers

Not All Husbands Dislike In-Laws

Dear Ann Landers: I don't mind the fact that when a husband's parents become old and sick, he expects his wife to cater to them, nurse them, help them, comfort them, do whatever lies in her power to make their last days easier. Any wife worthy of the name will do everything she can for her in-laws.

But when HER parents get sick and old, it's a different story. The husband curses under his breath, criticizes them, resents and argues about the time and money and energy she is spending on her old folks. The wife is cought like a rat in a trap -- torn between her obligation to her parents and her responsibilities to her husband. This is the dilemma faced by women of every ecomomic, intellectual and social strata. It's the time of life when a wife finally learns what a skunk her husband really is.

If your column is, as you claim, a true reflection of life as people live it, why don't you print some of the hundreds of letters you must receive on this subject? Or are you interested only in key-hole peeping, fun and games and a little polite sex? ---R. S. J. of Tulsa

Dear Mrs. R.: Of course, some husbands feel as yours does but there are also thousands of husbands who are wonderful to their wives' parents. My own husband, for example, adored my parents and treated them with great consideration.

One cannot get a true reflection of life by looking in the mirror. What you see my friend, is not life, but a reflection of your own misery.

Dear Ann Landers: I work for the American Cancer Society. My office faces the street and I can look out the window and see people as they do their shopping, hurrying from one place to another. During the holidays I saw hundreds of parents ladendown with expensive toys for their children. They wanted to make their youngsters happy. How strange and ironic that these same parents who would probably spend their last cent on a gift don't realize that the best gift a parent can give a child is himself -- his time, love and understanding. When this is missing, no other gift can take its place.

How many parents who smoke have been asked by their children to stop, yet they refuse. How many of these parents will die prematurely from lung cancer caused by cigarets? If these parents have no regard for their own lives they might at least consider what it means to their children. Thanks, Ann, for letting me say something that has been on my mind for a long time. --L. S., Waukesha, Wis., Unit, American Cancer Society

Dear L.S.; You took the words out of my mouth. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I was engaged to an oddball and he sort of broke the engagement. I kept the ring, which is a beautiful solitaire. I now have a new boyfriend who wants to buy me an engagement ring. I don't see why he should put out a lot of money since I already have a ring. I'd like to sell this ring to my new boyfriend and tell my ex-fiance that I sold his ring and give him the money. This way the boyfriend could buy me a lovely ring at a good price and the ex-fiance would get part of his money back.

What do you think?----Waiting in Council Bluffs

Dear Waiting: You say your ex-fiance "sort of" broke the engagement. If this is true the ring, according to law, is yours. If YOU sort of broke the engagement, the ring belongs to him -- in which case you have no right to sell it.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers guide to "Necking and Petting -- What Are The Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

ENDURANCE AND THE CHRISTIAN HOME

During Lent we need to give more careful attention to the words that Jesus spoke during His final week on earth.

Lent in modern days has placed too much emphasis on fasting, on sacrificing some well liked food or activity for forty days. Jesus would prefer that this be a time for one to review the role he must play if he is to be a disciple of Christianity.

Jesus stressed over and over the past was dead, calling on His followers to place their thoughts on tomorrow. Even during this climatic week He found it difficult to make His disciples understand the full impact of His predictions.

When Jesus foretold the destruction of the Temple, His followers wanted to know the exact date. They should have been more concerned about the "why" of the destruction.

Jerusalem was eventually destroyed by the Romans, with 1,100,000 persons killed. Not a stone was left in place. Some of the 40-foot columns had been cut out of single stones.

"The time is at hand," Jesus admonished them. He gave them the oft-quoted promise, "Heaven and earth shall pass away; but my words shall not pass away."

Everyone sought a specific sign, that indication of the Second Coming. Millions of travelers note roadside signs proclaiming "The end is near. Be prepared." The Time is still sought.

Jesus pledged difficult times. He warned of persecution and suffering; He urged them to develop patience and persistence.

"Patience is the highest form of courage," the late Lloyd George said. "Persistence and determination alone are omnipotent," President Calvin Coolidge once said. Winston Churchill offered no encouraging words when he told the English people he had only "blood, sweat and tears" for them.

In such times of need great leaders arise.

Today's world is changing so rapidly that many question the survival of religion as we now know it. Not too long ago, when the "God is Dead" movement swept America some "Christian atheists" dazed conventional believers, much as Jesus aroused the traditionalists in His day.

Jesus predicted wars, earthquakes, famines and pestilence. These people had experienced many of these disasters; they understood His threats. Yet many refused to follow his advice to be on guard, since "that day will come upon you suddenly like a snare."

In this final week Jesus spoke to large crowds that came early each day in the Temple. He knew the pressure was on Him; He had to talk often to many to get His message across.

Too many persons are unwilling to accept His words, to develop the patience He requires, or to have full confidence in His teachings.

Over and over He admonished them to believe His words, remembering that they were eternal and would never pass away.

In our rapidly changing society today we can overcome some of the fears voiced in the book Future Shock by returning to the Bible where Jesus made it clear--there are better times ahead. But one must be prepared.

Predictions generally are frustrated. No wonder the disciples were unsure of these words, especially since they desired interpretations with immediate applications. Jesus, on the other hand, wanted to prepare His people for the days ahead.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

THE BIBLE

3. Cain and Abel

After Adam and Eve were driven from the Garden of Eden they tilled the ground. Eve gave birth first to Cain then his brother Abel. Cain grew up to be a "Tiller of the ground" and Abel was "keeper of the Sheep."

Cain made an offering to the Lord of the fruits of his labors in the ground and Abel did the same with the "firstling of his flock and the fat thereof." The Lord was pleased with Abel's offering for he had done well. He was not pleased with Cain's offering and Cain was very upset and jealous of his brother. The Lord told Cain that if he had done well he would have been accepted but if he hadn't he would have to pay the price. Cain was bitter and resentful and in the field he and Abel argued and in a rage Cain killed Abel.

"And the Lord said unto Cain, Where is Abel they brother? And he said, I know not; Am I my brother's keeper? And He said, What hast thou done? the voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto Me from the ground."

Genesis 4:9,10

The Lord put a curse on Cain that he would no longer be able to till the ground and he would be a fugitive and a vagabond on earth. In complete dejection Cain said he would be killed by anyone who knew of his crime. And the Lord said that anyone killing Cain would have vengeance taken on him, seven fold.

"And Cain went out of the presence of the Lord, and dwelt in the land of Nod, on the East of Eden."

Genesis 4:16

He married and had a son named Enoch. He built a city which he named after his son Enoch.

Grassroot Support For Church Reunion Claimed

NEW YORK (AP) — A modern wave of anti-institutionalism has caused a "failure of nerve" in many church officials about the quest for church reunion, an expert says. But he adds that the goal already is emerging and its attainment seems certain.

"It's not just a pipe dream," says the Rev. Dr. Paul A. Crow Jr., of Princeton, N.J., executive secretary of the Consultation on Church Union— COCU. "There's more momentum for it now than there ever has been."

But much of the impetus, he adds, is now coming from the local scene rather than from denominational centers.

"It's a new kind of pressure that is coming from the grass roots," he says, referring to the growth of cross-denominational coalitions forming among different congregations in many communities."

Interviewed prior to the current observance of the annual week of prayer for Christianity unity sponsored by Protestant, Orthodox and Roman Catholic bodies, Dr. Crow said the movement has entered a more realistic stage.

"It has moved past the oldstyle conciliarism of amiability when ministers got together and now is involving broader participation of the laity in the common functional arena," he said.

Dr. Crow, 39, an Alabamaborn church historian, left a seminary teaching post at Lexington, Ky., four years ago to administer the project seeking to unite nine American Protestant denominations totaling about 25 million people.

It is only one of about 50 different merger negotiations going on between Protestant denominations in many parts of the world, some of them nearing consumation.

Besides these, theological talks also are continuing between Roman Catholicism and the major Protestant and Orthodox traditions, with a growing list of agreements of various aspects of doctrine and practice.

Dr. Crow, who spends about half his time on the road meeting with various church groups to explain the basis and pattern for the proposed united church said the upsurge of local ecumenical clusters, coalitions, consortiums and alliances of various kinds, dealing with issues of race, drugs, poverty, peace and other matters, has produced a "new local ecumenism."

District Lay Rally Sunday

Approximately 500 Methodists are expected to attend Sunday's annual lay rally of the Poplar Bluff-Sikeston district of the United Methodist Church hosted by First United Methodist Church, North Main at North Kingshighway.

The rally will begin at 6 p.m. with a dinner served by the ladies of the First and Wesley United Methodist churches at both locations. Following the meal everyone will assemble at the First church for the meeting.

The speaker will be Bishop Eugene M. Frank of St. Louis, whose 16-year limit as bishop of this area expires this year.

Leading the rally in expressions of appreciation for Bishop Frank's years of service will be Dr. J. Clinton Hawkins of St. Louis, conference lay leader; Dr. E. W. Bartley of Poplar Bluff, district superintendent, and Joe Hall of Kennett, district lay leader.

Cabbie Takes Time To Give To The Lord

ARNOLD, Mo. (AP) — Taxi driver Gordon Young can't always get to church on Sunday, so quite often he makes a contribution to a handy church — any church.

In one case, Young, who is 58, drove a woman to Trinity Lutheran Church and when they arrived, he gave her $10 for the Sunday collection.

It happens that Young and his wife were members of the original congregation of New Hope Methodist Church in Arnold.

But that didn't stop him from donating $10 to the minister of Webster Hills United Methodist Church. Young was driving by, saw the minister shaking hands with parishioners at the front door and "I gave my bit to the Lord.

"The Lord has given me four healthy children and a good life, so if I have a fare headed for church, I give this way. If not, I can walk up to the church door."

Young is employed by the Laclede Cab Co. of St. Louis.

Attica Visit Eyed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)--Evangelist Billy Graham says he plans to visit Attica state prison, where 43 inmates and guards died in an insurrection last year. Graham told a news conference the inmates had invited him after hearing him on the radio a few weeks ago. He said he'd "be happy" to go at some future time.

DAVID POLING, D.D.

The Church Moves Toward the Center

By REV. DAVID POLING

A certain quiet and peace is settling in on the Christian community and it accompanies its move toward the center. The signals of this mood are coming from many directions. They are seen in the actions and words of churchmen. It is evident in the programming of the religious organizations. It is seen in the literature and liturgy of the people. It is happening and quite welcome.

All this follows a long decade of confrontation and conflict for our institutions in Western civilization. The church has been in on much of this by the nature of its mandate: people. The poor, the lonely, the disadvantaged. The young going to war. The old going into debt. Moral questions are always the best ones to solve, but usually carry high risk. Controversy finally settles upon people, joining, tearing, hurting and dividing. The cuts and wounds of social change have been borne by the church—not always on time, nor everywhere effective, but nevertheless absorbed. The warnings of the conservatives and the threats of the radicals have at least brought this conclusion: a movement toward the center. And at the center, there is genuine quiet, peace and fellowship.

The thought and actions of certain individuals tell the whole story, the move toward the center. Father Malcolm Boyd, the prominent Episcopal priest, may be the best example of this shift in gears. Boyd has been an honest participant in almost every round of social change to descend upon the Christian camp. Sometimes he was out on the front lines of civil rights, then Black Power, then Vietnam, the whole works. His books are widely read. He gets the big fee on campus talk shows. He is with it, as far as the front lines go, and his mood is much worth considering: Head toward the center.

Writing in a recent issue of "Christianity and Crises," Boyd confesses to a new perspective, a different beat. The clenched fist in the air has the look of a question mark:

"I get belly laughs from hard, humorless people whose macabre intensity rattles pictures in the hallway and scares the dog . . . I am chased headlong back into history by those who profess simply 'now' as their alpha and omega. Zealots shouting 'love' with hate in their eyes have horsewhipped me into the arms of gentleness."

Boyd knows all the slogans, all the tactics of confrontation, all the pleas for radical action. He rejects this by observing:

"I have learned that the fundamental prerequisite of any contribution I can make to world peace is the establishment of equilibrium at the center of my own life. I have found that the initial, essential way I can bring love to suffering, agonizing and loveless masses of humanity is to become a human being who freely gives and receives love."

He closes by sounding the theme which has softly touched the Christian church everywhere: "The collective center comprises individual parts, including my own, that can be predicated on the resolute search for reality and nourishment of hope."

The movement toward the center will have wide and generous support in the Christian household. Social action, theology, and personal religious development are vitally affected. And there are many who would add, that the direction toward the center is not the initiative of man but the movement of the Holy Spirit.

Lincoln Nears MIAA Crown

ST. LOUIS - Lincoln University, half-way home in its drive to an undefeated campaign in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association, will play two of its more prominent pursuers, Missouri U.-Rolla and Southeast Missouri State College, in upcoming games.

Don Corbett's Blue Tigers took a giant step toward their goal when they upset defending champion Northeast Monday, 88-66. The sixth MIAA triumph against no losses for LU came after a 94-73 decision over Northwest Missouri last Saturday.

By sweeping their two conference opponents the Tigers extended their winning streak to 7 in a row for a 13-4 overall record. They will be at home to Southeast but hit the road for a Monday game at Rolla where Billy Key's Miners are unbeaten in 8 games this winter.

Lincoln's performance in its second season of MIAA basketball has been remarkable. A year ago the Tigers finished 1-11 and last in the conference and were 6-19 overall. That was B.C. - Before Corbett.

Rolla, which seldom has created a stir in basketball, has been accepted by a vociferous following that yelled its head off in the Hall that Gale Bullman built when late free throws by John Ladner enabled UMR to nip Southwest Missouri, 70-69, last Saturday for the eighth straight home victory.

On Monday Rod LeGrand's late charity flips on a 1-and-1 situation provided the margin of victory in an 80-78 squeaker at Central Missouri. By finally winning after 8 road losses the Miners climbed to second in the MIAA with a 5-2 mark and improved their log to 9-8. The Miners won only 9 games all last season when they also lost 13.

Southeast Missouri has been flexing the muscles many believed would make a solid contender of Bob Cradic's Indians who now have won 6 in a row in a 12-5 season. They sqeuaked by Central's Mules, 77-73, and Southwest Missouri, 79-78, to improve their conference record to 5-3 and a tie for third with Northeast.

After playing at Lincoln Saturday, the Indians will be at home to Northeast Monday, entertain Central Missouri Feb. 19 and visit Southwest Feb. 21 in their only remaining MIAA games.

Northeast, slumping to 11-7 overall after suffering its third consecutive road defeat, will have no surcease from a possible road jinx as it plays at Southwest Saturday and at Southeast next Monday.

The SMS Bears, 3-4 in the MIAA and 5-10 overall, have 9 games in which to redeem themselves.

Central Missouri, 1-7 and 6-14, has lost an unbelievable 11 games in a row. Northwest Missouri, likewise 1-7 and 6-14, will engage the Mules in a struggle for last place when they play at Maryville Saturday.

Mustangs, Indians In Finals

STEELE - North Pemiscot coasted past South Pemiscot 62-34 in the B game and Hayti breezed by South Pemiscot 72-50 in the A contest here Thursday night in the Bootheel League tourney semifinals.

The Mustangs snuffed out the junior Bulldogs in the first period of the first game and ran up an 18-7 lead which became unsurmountable as the game continued.

South Pemiscot tried to fight back in the second quarter as the Bulldogs scored 13 points to 12 for the Mustangs but North Pemiscot came out after the intermission and used an impenetrable defense to hold the Bulldogs to 14 points in the entire second half, seven in each of the last two periods while NPHS was scoring 16 in each of the last two quarters.

NPHS hit 26 field goals to 24 for the Bulldogs, but the South hit only six of 13 free throw attempts to 10 of 13 for their northern rivals.

Curley Reedus and Frankie Gooden led the Mustang offense with 16 and 14 points respectively. David Madden was high for South Pemiscot with 14 points.

The second game of the evening saw South Pemiscot have a cold first and third period to fall victim to the Hayti Indians.

Hayti took the lead 15-10 after the initial period of play but the Bulldogs fought back to erase three of the five point lead the Indians enjoyed off before the half, scoring 17 points to 14 for Hayti.

Hayti iced the game in the third period using a tenacious defense coupled with some cold shooting by the Bulldogs to allow South Pemiscot only 14 points while they were ripping the nets for 24.

The last period was played evenly at 19 apiece as Hayti had the lead and just played well enough to hold on to the victory.

Randy Gardner scored 24 points to lead the Indians and Jim Wallace had 22 for South Pemiscot.

Friday nights action will pit Caruthersville against Hayti in the 6:30 B game and North Pemiscot will face Caruthersville in the 8:00 A contest.

Upsets Averted In Semifinals

HOLCOMB -- Clarkton defeated Campbell 52-45 to advance to the finals in the B bracket and Senath-Hornersville whipped Southland 79-45 in the semi-finals of the A bracket of the Dunklin Co. tourney played here Thursday night.

Upsets highlighted first round action as three upsets were recorded in four games.

The Raindeer overcame a 10 point deficit after the first half to win their game from the Camels.

Campbell jumped to a 15-8 first quarter advantage and took the second period 12-9 to lead 27-17 at the halftime break.

Clarkton came out in the third period and used a devastating press to overwhelm the Camels, taking the quarter 23-8 and forge into the lead 40-35 going into the final quarter of play.

The Raindeer continued to play tough defense and held onto the lead at the buzzer, scoring 12 points to 10 for Campbell in the period.

Randy Wiseman was the leading scoring for Clarkton with 16 points. Joe McElrath led the Camels with 15.

The nights main attraction saw the Lions build an unsurmountable 21-6 lead after one quarter and coast the rest of the way against a much smaller and outmanned Southland five.

Senath used their entire squad in the game with 11 men getting into the scoring column. Mark Moore was high for the Lions with 19 points. Bob Lambert led the Rebels with 16.

SEMO Streak Ended At 6

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Southeast Missouri State College blew a 49-45 halftime lead Thursday night and allowed Kentucky Wesleyan to snap the Indians six game win streak, 90-85 before a capacity crowd at Houch Field house.

Mike Williams, a 6-foot-3 junior guard from Trotwood, Ohio paced the Purple Panthers offense with 27 points, connecting on 10 of 23 field goal tries and seven of eight from the line.

Wesleyan broke the game open midway in the second half when it built an 18 point advantage, but Southeast battled back within four with two minutes left in the contest but lost starters Fred Johnson, Andrew Reid and Jim Anderson on fouls and the Tribe dropped their sixth game in 18 outs while the Kentucky visitors recorded their 12th in 18 battles.

Southeast went dead cold in its field goal shooting the second half, netting only 14 of 42 shots for a 33.3 average after posting a 43.3 mark through the first 20 minutes of play. Wesleyan had a 45.4 mark for the game and hit at that pace in each half.

A 11 of 20 free throw mark in the first half kept coach Bob Cradic's cagers from building any kind of lead. SEMO finished the game with a 61.3 shooting mark from the line while Wesleyan had a 58.8 average.

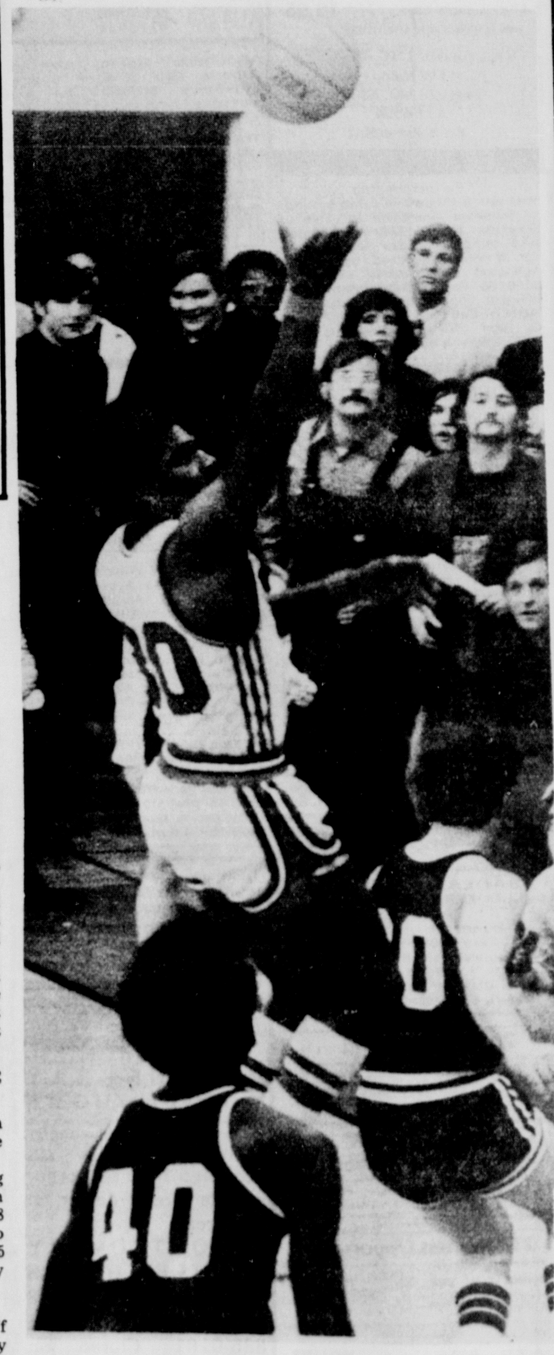

Johnson paced the Indians offense, which included four players in double figures, scoring 23 while Reid added 17, Dennis Maritz 15 and Leonard Bishop 14.

Lamar Paces College Scores

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Small college or major college, it's all the same to Dwight Lamar.

The NCAA college division scoring leader last season with a 35 point average, Lamar has picked up right where he left off, even though his school, Southwestern Louisiana, has switched into the major college ranks.

Lamar—on an off night—poured in 42 points Thursday to lead Southwestern Louisiana, 17-2 and ranked 13th in the nation, to a 95-83 victory over McNeese State. The 6-foot-1 guard currently leads the nation's major college scorers with a 35.8 average.

Although Lamar's scoring has been an instrumental factor in Southwestern Louisiana's success, he has had help—much of it from center Roy Ebron, who scored 22 points and pulled down 24 rebounds against McNeese.

The Cajuns led by only 45-43 at the half and did not manage to open the game up until late in the second half. Henry Ray scored 32 points to keep McNeese close.

Southwestern Coach Beryl Shipley said he felt Lamar did not have a good game.

"Lamar didn't have a good shooting night," the coach said. "I'm glad he got 42 points, but he tried about 41 shots.

"We didn't shoot well, but it was understandable," Shipley added.

"We are coming off a fivegame road trip and the boys are extremely tired."

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 5 Penn beat Columbia 69-59, No. 8 Long Beach State bowed to Fresno State 76-69 and No. 15 Memphis State was upset by St. Louis 7672.

The Quakers jumped off to a 30-15 lead midway through the first half and managed to stay at least nine points ahead of Columbia the rest of the way. Penn, 15-2, was paced by junior forward Phil Hankinson's 21 points.

Long Beach State scored just five points in the first 10 minutes as Fresno State built up a 15-point lead. The 49ers, now 18-3, never caught up.

The game was won at the free throw line, where Fresno State, 8-11, scored 28 points. Long Beach State, which saw three of its starters foul out, scored only nine points on free throws.

Clarence Metcalfe led the Bulldogs with 24 points. Ed Ratleff had 20 and Nate Stephens 18 for Long Beach.

Memphis State, trailing 37-20 at halftime, rallied in the second half but fell short of catching St. Louis.

"We just got beat," moaned Memphis Coach Gene Bartow. "We played poorly in the first half (sinking only six of 28 field goal attempts) and couldn't catch up."

Larry Finch of Memphis State, now 14-5, scored 26 points, 22 of them in the second half rally. The Billikens, 13-4, were led by Harry Rogers and Jesse Leonard, each of whom netted 21.

All-District Meeting Set

An open letter ot parents of the retarded in the State of Missouri:

Being the mother of a severley retarded child, I am indeed interested, as I feel all parents are: who want the best care possible for their retarded children: in the bill presently being considered by the Senate. The hopes for retardation division hinge on the Senate vote.

NOW is the time to speak up to and for the Senators and OTHERS who have given much time and effort in seeing the need for this separation within the Division of Mental Health.

I realize I'm only one parent (my husband shares my feelings) and can only speak about the type of care that my child requires, but then all of us know what we feel is the best type of care for our own.

At present my child is being cared for in a foster group home (referred to as UNLICENSED HOMES) and is receiving excellent care. The only reason that I know of why these are called "the unlicensed home" (as if it were a dirty word) is because there aren't any standards or code regulating them up to the present time. I'll admit that some I visited are not fit to care for the retarded, yet there are many who are doing a wonderful work in caring for the retarded. The important factor in placing a child is for the parents to visit the homes that are available and then decide, with the consent of the manager of the home, which is the best one suited to care for the needs of the child. for instance, a patient that is non-ambulatory, as in my own; should not be placed with those who are trainable and educable in the same home unless of course they can be separated in different rooms. Don't let someone tell you where to send your child....GO AND SEE FOR YOURSELF. YOU know more about your child's needs and the care you want for them.

I'm against the institutional type care for the retarded and think they could profitably be separated as follows:

TRAINABLE AND EDUCABLE— send to special schools such as State School No. 2 on Hiway S, east of Hillsboro, Mo. and the Sheltered Workshop which is also located on A Hiway, east of Hillsboro. These two are about one and one-half miles apart.

AMBULATORY — those who can walk and perhaps trained to feed and toilet themselves.

NON—AMBULATORY—NON-AMBULATORY—those who can neither walk, talk, feed themselves or be toilet trained.

The personal contact, care and consistency of the SAME persons, daily, means much to the adjustment of these children.

We can help our tax dollars do for us what we feel should be done by exercising our rights as individuals in letting our wishes be known by contacting the people in authorized places; starting with Dr. Harold Robb, Acting Director of the Division of Mental Health. 722 Jefferson, Jefferson City, Mo. DR. Ulett, Director, is out of the country.

If this bill should fail, then it seems to me that Dr. Robb would probably be the chairman of a committee to set up some type of standards for the NOW UNLICENSED HOMES to operate by. I'm led to believe that within the year, we can expect certain foster care home standards to be available to us which would include standards for programs and activities for retarded children as well as standards for physical care alone.

Let your wishes be known to Dr. Robb. How else can he know if we don't tell Him! He is in a position of leadership and surely would be influenced by our requests.

Respectfully submitted,

Mrs. Lela Hulvey
Hillsboro, Mo.

Daily Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Mo. 63801
Dear Mr. Blanton:

I was indeed saddened to learn of the surprise resignation of W. Raymert Miller as City Manager of Sikeston. Mr. Miller served not only Sikeston, but the entire Bootheel Region with dedication and unselfishness. It was my honor and privilege, as director of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, to observe his dedication to the highest principles of public service.

In my opinion, his high sense of purpose speaks well of those who selected and retained him as City Manager of Sikeston.

We hope that Mr. Miller will continue his leadership for the Bootheel citizens when he enters his new position.

Very truly yours,
Philip Shelton

What't The Law

Landlord Is A Miser

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Mr. Wimple owned an apartment house in a high-crime area where it wasn't only muggy in the summertime. Inside the building, it was "muggy" all year round. In fact, hold-up men were sometimes as numerous as the tenants. Consequently, the frightened tenants finally banned together and demanded that Mr. Wimple hire a doorman to keep out suspicious and undesirable intruders. Mr. Wimple, however, was tighter with a buck than Jack Benny and, having no statutory or lease obligation to provide a doorman, refused to expend a penny for that purpose.

"I'm your landlord," he told his tenants, "not your local police department."

"Maybe not," was the answer, "but at a landlord, you've got a duty to protect the life, health and safety of your tenants. And, in our crime-infested area, the only measure of protection you can give us is a doorman. Consequently, you're obligated to provide one."

The dispute ended up in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you require Mr. Wimple to unzip his change purse and provide a doorman?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that notwithstanding the envelopment of an area by a high-crime rate, a landlord has no duty to provide doorman service for tenants in the absence of a statute or lease provision requiring him to do so. In this case, noted that judge, Mr. Wimple was not subject to any such requirement.

The Newspaper Story

NEWSPAPERS TODAY

The newspaper business today is one of America's great "growth" businesses, exceeding the growth of the U. S. economy as a whole for more than 20 years.

The actual production, or "manufacture," of newspapers is so massive that it ranks among the largest in industrial activity on the Federal Reserve Board's Index of Industrial Production, along with the auto industry, meat packing and the manufacture of drugs and medicines. In fact, newspapers rank higher than most of the nation's manufacturing industries.

The continuing, healthy growth of newspapers can be measueredin a number of ways.

CIRCULATION — Daily newspapers grew from 54 million papers daily in 1950 to over 62 million in 1971, an increase of 13.3%. Weekly newspaper circulation topped 29 million in 1971, a substantial increase over 1970, and an increase of approximately 44% since 1963.

NEWSPRINT CONSUMPTION increased from 4,300,000 tons in 1946 to 9,545,000 tons in 1970, a growth of 122%. This is an average of 325 pounds of newsprint per newspaper-reading family per year, or almost one pound per day.

CAPITAL OUTLAY — In 1969, 647 newspapers spent $169,000,000 for new plants, equipment and modernization and this amount was exceeded in 1970. Vast strides in newspaper production have been made in the past five years calling for complete replacement of old equipment and methods. More than one-third of all daily newspapers today are being printed by the offset method and, about two-thirds of all weekly newspapers. Investment of vast sums in new presses, new equipment and wonder - working computers is evidence of the faith newspaper owners have in the future of the medium.

EMPLOYMENT in the newspaper business has been increasing more rapidly than total employment in the United States. In the period 1947 through April 1970, newspaper employment grew from 248,500 to 373,200, a gain of 50.2%, a growth considerably larger than the 27.3% increase of all manufacturing employment and the 37.5% growth of total employment in the United States. This makes the newspaper business the fifth largest employer in the nation and 10th largest when measured by value of shipments.

NUMBER OF NEWSPAPERS — Unprofitable newspapers have died in recent years; others have merged and, indeed, some new newspapers have started. The total number of newspapers has changed little since World War II. More copies of newspapers, however, are being printed and sold today than ever before. This, to be sure, is the national economic pattern: Fewer retail outlets, fewer auto manufacturers, fewer clothing manufacturers . . . fewer, but larger, with increased production, more and better services, more jobs, higher salaries and improved standards to meet the demands of an expanding, changing, better educated population.

POW Letter Received

PURDY, Mo. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Estes, residents of this small community 35 miles southeast of Joplin, said today they have received a letter from their son who has been a prisoner of war in North Veitnam for nearly four years.

Navy Lt. Cdr. Edward D. Estes, 37, had been on his second tour of duty in Vietnam when he was shot down in November, 1967, his mother said.

Mrs. Estes said the letter was one of 541 letters from POW's brouht out of North Vietnam by The Committee of Liaison, special messengers, to New York, where they were sent out individually.

In the six-line letter, postmarked Dec. 29, 1971, Estes asked his father about the quail hunting this year in Missouri. The handwritten message ended with, "May the most wonderful reunion be ours in the near future."

Estes has been in the service 16 years and was stationed at the LeMoor, Calif., Naval Air Station.

His wife, Bette, 37, and two sons, Edward, 11 and David, 8, are living on the base at LeMoor.

House Quits Until Monday

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Under the threat of an approaching ice and snow storm, the Missouri House worked only 40 minutes today and then quit until Monday.

As the House opened for business at 9:45 a.m. Speaker James E. Godfrey, D-St. Louis, announced to the 135 members present that he had received a report of six inches of new snow on the ground in Columbia, only 30 miles away.

The members registered for their $10 in daily expense money and then attendance dropped rapidly.

Before quitting, however, the House gave tentative approval to six bills, three of them routine easements on state property for utility purposes.

Others advanced would:

Increase the tax on rented private railroad cars from 1 per cent to 5 per cent. Missouri's railroad car tax is the lowest in the nation. The tax in other states ranges from 5 per cent to 9 per cent.

Provide for the election of junior college district trustees from subdistricts rather than at large.

As the House quit, Majority Leader Richard J. Rabbitt, DSt. Louis, announced that a scheduled meeting of the House Rules Committee had been postponed until Monday.
